THE ROUND OF LIFE!

Oh! how very interesting it is to watch the change—almost magic—the life that flows for years, so full of sin and darkness, changed in a twinkling!

The cut in the centre of this page is a very forcible picture of real life. How sad have our hearts been made, times out of number, at the sickening sight of a soul bordering on the abyss of eternal sorrow, and as we have traced back we have found, again and again, that when the eyes of the poor deluded victim first saw the light and came sweeping into the world, it was under very favourable circumstances. The little lamb was nestled closely to a fond mother's breast, and handled gently by a tender father—both praying that God would bless the child sent to them. School days have glided by, the romping prattling feet have roamed through the home, bright hopes have filled the fond parents' hearts, and during the education of their boy or girl everything has seemed to give every encouragement for a blessed future. School days ended—the boy of many prayers is sent forth into the world to engage in the occupation chosen for his future. Very soon the surrounding element of sin, in the companions of the work-shop or office, tolls its tale, and the child is persuaded—that one glass, one smoke will not do any harm, and foolishly the child yields and takes a draught of the hellish fluid—'TIS DOWN! The yearning for more of the abominable poison steals into the heart deeper, until he (or she) is found sitting, idling their time away and spending their hours in the saloon, encircled by a crowd of men and women who are careless and indifferent of the future of their souls, and consequently they are not in a position to give any help. Then follows a life of great sorrow—mixed up in bar-room fights and found drunk on the streets, a disgrace to themselves and a source of heart-break to their sorrowing parents. But, thank God, how many times have we been compelled to shout "Hallelujah!" and give expressions of joy at the falling tear and penitent cry of such ones? After years of untold misery, these poor wanderers, when cast out of society, without a shelter, unfeelingly trampled on by many who should be the first to help them, are often attracted by the sound of the drum, the blast of the cornet, or the voice of brave men and women who march the streets night after night, and are brought to our barracks in a vile condition of body and soul. Very often we look from our platforms and notice the falling tear and heavy sigh, as the Story of Calvary is repeated over and over by men and women in simple, plain and unmistakable language—language that pierces and penetrates the hard and rocky heart, and brings back the mellow influences of a family altar, and the recollection of a mother's prayer, till we see them come boldly out and cry unto God for deliverance and mercy, and what a heavenly smile has soon played on their countenances as the peace of God has filled their souls, and they have risen up new creatures in Christ Jesus, filled with a desire to get others into the same joy as they experience. This desire ripens, and many are led to enter our Training Homes, where they are fitted for waging a good warfare against the powers of hell, and for years they fight well, and by the time the Clock of the world's destiny strikes twelve, and they pass from earth to heaven, they have won for the kingdom of God thousands of souls.

Oh, how true that God can break the power of sin and set the slave free, and take hold of men and women and make them a blessing to all around. May He help us to fight faithfully on, and gather up as many as possible.

WANTED!

1,000 Candidates

FOR GOD AND THE ARMY.

The poor world with its teeming millions. It does need our deepest sympathy and assistance. It groans beneath its load of sin and debauchery. Reeling to and fro, rocking like a drunken man, staggering along on its hell-bound course. Bye-and-bye it will be gone, gone into the regions beyond to suffer, to die, and yet not die. Oh, let us think of the need to help their souls. Let us look upon these perishing ones as Jesus did. Let us listen to the Voice, like unto that voice that spoke unto Lot and said,

"Arise up Quickly and Gird Thyself,"

Oh, what a change in the attitude of this world towards God, if every follower of the Lamb would but gird on the armour and take a bold stand for the world's Salvation!

We are now putting forth every effort to secure 1,000 candidates for our work during the next twelve months. This amount does not seem much when we remember what the officers and soldiers of God and the Army can do if they will but try.

The year that has just gone has been fruitful in the work. We have had 676 applications as candidates for the opportunities presented in the work for soul-saving. If this can be accomplished by the efforts we have put forth, I am confident great things can be done by a little extra push on the part of every officer in the Dominion.

We are struggling in need of candidates for the following branches of our work:—

For the Field.

That is, men and women who have the capabilities for getting sinners saved and making them into bright and useful soldiers of Jesus and the Army. Men and women who are prepared to go out and seek the lost and dying, visit the erring one, lift up the fallen, sympathize with those in need, weep with those who weep, and rejoice with those who rejoice. This is a good, glorious life for all who have a desire to be used in the service of God, and who are desirous of having an Abundant Entrance into Heaven.

Many are trammelled by their friends. They have the inward conviction of being their duty to offer themselves for the fight, BUT—ah that cruel BUT, how it mars the peace and brings in the death stroke to the soul, and encircles it in a deep gloom. There are many who allow the idle suggestion of the devil to rob them of their joy and heaven on earth. Then the demand for candidates for

Our Rescue Branch

is very appalling. We have just opened Homes in Stratford, and London, where we have been compelled to send officers, which has naturally made our staff of officers in Toronto very small, and I plead for volunteers for this branch of labor and love. The opportunities in this work are great. We have other offers, and are eager to launch out and secure Homes, but we need real full of love to God and souls, charged with a deep compassion for the lost. This is a dangerous field, where only the effective ability may be short or who cannot sing a solo so well, and who feel they could not do for field officers. Here is your chance, sister, an open door that will lead you into a path rich with blessing and full of victory. Here is a work so marvellous triumphs for your God, whom you say you love so much. Come now, don't linger any longer, but send in your application then and come and help the little band of brave women who are doing as much as twice their number should do. There are thousands waiting for a kind word and a hand of help, waiting for a broken, sorrowing heart—cruelly beaten in the struggle of sin and woe, betrayed, lost, forsaken. Helpless in themselves they call out piteously for your assistance.

Another branch that needs volunteers very urgently is

Our Prison-Gate Brigade.

Men are needed of sterling quality, men who have been touched with the sympathetic hand of Jesus, and who can lead deep-dyed sinners from the bondage of the prison houses into sweet fellowship with Him who has died for them.

This branch of work is causing quite a stir in all parts throughout the Dominion, and promises to be a very extensive branch of our operations. We purpose visiting the prison gates and offering the hand of help and love to those who have set free from their bondage, and care for their souls and give them a chance, and get them into the fold of Christ. Such is our object is to get them saved, and the demand for is great. We set upon the principle of "thief catch thief," but we have a proviso, and it is that one of the thieves who tries to catch a thief is a thief saved by the grace of God. So if you have been saved from this sin or other sins of breaking the laws of the land, and for such have been imprisoned, offer yourself and come to help us get other souls into the Harbour of Safety.

The same applies to all ex-jail birds. Give the Kingdom the benefit of your past experiences by plunging in and saving some one else. Think of what you have been delivered from. Think of the mercy of God to you and remember that the same power lives to-day to save and liberate others.

What a calamity it is that the work is so far impeded by so many people holding back and not demonstrating their practical love to Jesus. It is all very nice to say "I love Jesus," but I implore you to not only say so with your lips, but let your actions in this matter prove to all round about you that in deed and truth you not only love the sinners' Friend, but that the eternal welfare of all those outside the fold of Christ is one of the greatest considerations of your life.

We are just now very anxious to do something for our

and invite all our German-speaking soldiers who want a platform of usefulness for God and souls to send along your application.

We cannot offer you very much glittering gold or a very easy-going life.

The Path is a Rough One that leads to the deep deep pools of iniquity in which are the gems we are seeking for our dear Lord, but there is a sweet hallowed peace given to every faithful warrior, that the world cannot produce. It can be yours. Yes, the joy of being a soul-winner is grand; it fills the aching void that listless and carelessness makes. Come, ye fallen, ye sin-sick souls, come here. Come! Come now! Don't sit another minute listening to the subtle devil, but be valiant for Jesus.

You say "I am no good; I want to go, but I am not capable." Leave that in our hands. We want your heart—that is your motive, make your application, and if we feel that you are incapable, then the responsibility passes on to us.

Sit down and write out your application to me, and it shall have our attention. Yours for the salvation of the world.

Care of Candidate Department.

PEARLS FROM MONCTON DISTRICT.

A dear invalid soldier at C——says she once had religion with the she thought was better than nothing, but since she got fully saved Salvation is worth more than all the world to her.

While we spoke in the open-air recently of man's personal responsibility to God an arrow of conviction fastened itself in a poor fellows breast, who scarcely ever attends a place of worship. He followed the Army to the barracks and wept his way to the Cross.

The Captain at C——tells me of a lady who has found out a new way of keeping the commandments. 1st. Honor thy father and mother. Easy enough to do that they are both dead. 2nd. Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. That's all the thing else I have no horse and buggy, and can't afford to hire one. 3rd. Thou shalt not kill. Don't kill anyone for fear they would hang me, and I haven't the right neck for hanging. 4th. Love thy neighbor. Can't quarrel with them they never come near me.

Eight soldiers out for cleansing from unbelief at a certain corps recently. Results, two unbelievers crying for mercy the next meeting.

Soldiers, get cleansed from the sin of unbelief, and sinners shall be converted.

Bro. H. thanked God for the blessing the S. A. had been to him personally, remarking that it had made him a better Presbyterian, and said too Army should have his sympathy and support in return.

Query.—Why so much open air work? Answer.—At the Drum quite recently in a village open air knelt a poor drunk and cried for salvation.

Do you expect souls in the open air?

Lieut. K. brought the house down when in the middle of a very earnest appeal, by declaring that many young men were degraded whose mothers were good men.

Campbellton is on the rise. Capt. Gerund, Lieut. Gerund, and Mrs. Gerund are full of faith for mighty victories. Two men cried for mercy on my last visit there, and still there's more to follow.

A poor backslider from God of eight years' standing returned into his Father's Home at Newcastle on my last visit, and after emptying his pockets of tobacco, etc., and laying down his sins at the Cross, was enabled to rejoice in the knowledge of sins forgiven and his soul once more at peace with God.

Some very important changes will be taking place in the Moncton District in a few weeks. We will let you know more about them later on.

God has been and is still graciously pouring out of His Spirit upon officers and soldiers. Results: Sinners are being saved and backsliders reclaimed.

Victory is our motto.

HALLELUJAH WEDDING

Two Salvation Captains Joined in the Holy Bonds.

The Ceremony Performed By Rev. Mr. Deeprose—The Bride and Bridegroom Faithful Soldiers Under the Army Flag.

The Salvation Army barracks on Queen St. Ottawa, was filled to the rafters on Sept. 11th to witness the hallelujah wedding. Previous to the wedding there was quite a lively speculation as to where the bride would come from, and in such extraordinary profusion as to astonish Captain Elliott herself, who hadn't the slightest idea of where half the good things that kept pouring in, came from.

The meeting was opened by Capt. Magee giving out verse 62, and after a very short testimony meeting was held. At 8.45 the wedding procession entered the hall in the following order: Capt. Clifton, Rev. Mr. Deeprose, Capt. Savage, Capt. Helen Victoria Graham, (the bride) Capt. Lindsay (the groom) and Capt. Moss. When the party reached the platform they were received with loud volleys from the soldiers and sympathizers, and Capt. Clifton gave the hymn "Rolled away," and after a few short testimonies he read from the 5th chapter of Ephesians.

The Wedding.

After reading the Word of God, the Major said it afforded him great pleasure to be present at the wedding. He spoke of the happiness of the people about to be married had been in the work. Capt. Lindsay, the groom, of Lindsay, now in charge of the Stratford corps, had been an officer for some years, and had been instrumental in bringing a number of souls to Jesus, and his bride, the bride, of Stirling, in charge of the Waterloo corps, had been in the war some years, and her great aim in life was to bring souls into the Kingdom. Both were officers of his division. He hoped they would always be useful officers in the Army, to the honor of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you."

After reading the articles of marriage of the Salvation Army, the Major asked the bride and groom to stand up, and they did and the Major asked them if they held up the standard bearer. Capt. Moss acted as bridesmaid and Capt. Savage as groomsman. The Rev. Mr. Deeprose performed the marriage ceremony.

The bride wore the regular Army captain's uniform of navy blue with trimmings of scarlet, supplemented by a broad white sash fastened on the left shoulder and tied in a knot at the right side. The groom also wore his regimental uniform of China. The lasses of the Training Home also wore sashes of white, which seemed to be the badge of a Hallelujah wedding. A large and well bouquets presented to the bride ornamented the banqueting room.

Address by Mr. Deeprose.

After the wedding Mr. Deeprose addressed the audience. He loved the Salvation Army for several reasons. He loved them for believing that man had a soul. Another reason he had made to God because they tried to bring the soul and God together. He loved the Army because they believed in a Saviour and after receiving Christ they went distributing Salvation to all the world.

The bride and groom spoke, and both thanked God they were in the Salvation Army war. Capt. Savage and Capt. Moss also spoke. The major then called upon Capt. Elliott. She was received with loud clapping of hands and volleys, showing the high esteem in which she is held by the citizens of Ottawa. She thanked the people for the liberal manner in which they had contributed to her appeal for help for the banquet. The number at the table before the ceremony had been large, still the tables in the hall had been loaded with good things, and she invited all present down to have supper with the newly wedded couple.

After a short prayer meeting, during which one soul professed conversion, some 200 went down to the supper.—Ottawa Evening Journal.

OPENING OF

Rescue Home

AT STRATFORD.

BY—

Commissioner & Mrs. Adams.

Wednesday, Sept 10th, was a busy day indeed at Stratford, this being the occasion of the Commissioner's first visit, and at the same time the occasion on which was to be opened a Rescue Home for this city.

Major Philpott and several officers, who had come in good time, met the 4.30 train and gave a hearty welcome to the Commissioner and Mrs. Adams as they alighted from the train accompanied by Colonel Young, Major Taylor, Adjt. Tassie, Capt. Mackenzie and Lieut. Smith, who had been selected as officers for the Rescue Home.

In a very few minutes all were right easily enseconced in the officers' quarters, and in good time a banquet was spread when several friends, who are deeply interested in the Rescue Work, were present, including Mrs. Cook who has given the furnished house for our Rescue Home, and Mr. Hill, a good friend of the Army from Clinton.

After tea was over, the Commissioner spoke at length on the Rescue Work, and gave figures and facts that melted every heart in the room.

Mrs. Cook, who had so nobly opened the way for our Rescue Work to be established here, gave a great testimony to God's power to save and keep. She had long been wishing for this day, and like a negro who had seen a great land flowing and the victory won, she could say, "Bross de Lord dat I lib to see dis day." Mr. Hill spoke to the Commissioner and the Rescue Staff she said, "You have well done that you have come."

Mr. Hill, from Clinton, testified that Jesus saved him and kept him day by day, and that he was thankful that he had possessed should be devoted to the Kingdom of God and the Salvation of souls.

Colonel Cadman then spoke very forcibly and urged all present to help forward the Rescue Work in Stratford to the utmost of their ability.

Adjt. Tassie, the "Mother" of the Toronto Rescue Home, gave her experience of the Rescue Work in Toronto, and then Commissioner introduced Capt. Mackenzie and Lieut. Smith as the Rescue officers for this city. Both responded with a hearty volley, and both gave their testimonies and vowed to do their utmost for God and souls.

The Commissioner closed in prayer, after which we went over to the Home and had a glorious time in testimony to find it just the thing for the purpose, and it is capable of accommodating 16 girls.

At 7.30 we gathered in prayer, to catch the march, which was a very good one, a short open-air was held in Market Square, and then we went right off to the barracks.

A rousing song started the meeting, and then Major Philpott prayed and some others, after which Major Leighton sang "Onward, Salvation Soldier," which went with a swing.

Colonel Young led some testimonies, which were very powerful to the soldiers, and the Commissioner followed.

In a most powerful address, which was greatly appreciated, the Commissioner described the new schemes of our Social Reform Branch. The Prison Gate, Children's Shelter, Rescue and other schemes were all evidently heartily received, and as the meeting went on and Mrs. Adams, Adjt. Tassie, and the Stratford Rescue officers spoke, much sympathy was manifested. A liberal collection was given on the spot.

A prayer meeting was held and a separate meeting made to get souls saved, but none yielded to the call.

We are full of faith for the success of the Rescue Work in Stratford.

PRISON GATE WORK.

THE WHOLE DOMINION TO BE ROUSED.

Wonderful heading this, but wonderful is the glaring characters are, yet far more wonderful were the great manifestations of God's presence, spirit, and power as felt throughout the whole series of meetings.

Never was greater preparation made for Sept. 11th, when Col. Cadman arrived at the Temple, and the H.Q. Staff met him to accord to him hero of a thousand battles, this modern Zacchous, this Salvation Army soldier, a hearty welcome, and he got it.

Of course the Colonel felt at home among the War Cry boys and girls, for he had not say, "I feel as if I had rocked you all in the cradle and fed you all with milk."

Time and space forbids us giving our readers the least idea of all the wonderful things the Colonel said on that afternoon. He spoke of faith, of attacking the devil in every door, of the man with no brains in his legs, of his experience in seven-travelling years of his ministry, (for the boys gave him one), and lots of other stirring stows, thrilling anecdotes and good advice, and he ended at the close of this little welcome meeting we knelt together in silent prayer for a few moments and heartily thanked our dear Lord for sending the saved Chimney Sweep into our midst. May God richly bless his efforts.

All day on Saturday, officers, staff and field came into the Queen City from various parts, showering by their faces that they had come expecting to receive something good from God. Thousands of other people throughout the Dominion to see the grand summer fair and Exhibition, and the flood of advertisements, marches, announcements, our press meetings were specially brought before these pleasure-seekers.

Saturday night's march was very good, lively affair. The Commissioner headed the procession. Colonel Cadman rode in a buggy drawn with the chief. The Staff and field officers, with the rank-and-file, brought up the rear. Two bands gave us some good music. Crowds followed the side walks, and this first march was a swinging one.

Quite a big crowd had gathered inside, considering all the other counter attractions. We noticed Major Morris and his son from the North-West. The meeting was a welcome to Colonel Cadman, the visiting Staff officers—a Saturday night "How-dye-do meeting" as the Commissioner put it. Of course all went in to enjoy themselves.

A drunk who sat on the penitent-form enjoyed it immensely. He asked the Commissioner if he was a Salvationist. When Bro. Brown, the recently converted jail-bird, and done testifying, our friend the drunk chimed in "You're crazy now." Richmond Street Jimmy ran across the floor a time or two; that other well-digger Jimmy sang as nobody else can sing. Lieut. Smith sang a solo with the chorus "Don't you get weary," which was taken up by all with great zest.

The Colonel jumped into the hearts of his audience wholesale, and in a wonderful way showed up sin in its true light. He pictured its damnable consequences. He told of the hell prepared for all who spurned offered mercy.

The Commissioner pulled in the net, and THREE precious souls cried out for deliverance—a fitting start to the Great Cadman meetings.

Special meetings were held in each city barracks, by special staff-officers. Reports of these meetings will be found later on.

It was our pleasure to put in the day at the Temple, which seemed to be the centre point of the Sunday's battle; Colonel Cadman was in charge all day. He made some good, solid, cutting remarks during the Holiness meeting. Doubtless an outline of the talk will be very interesting, so we give it. "Behold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us that we should be called the Sons of God."

Said the Colonel, "I have seen the picture of a baby being washed by Pear's soap. The child is reaching eagerly after it trying to get it. He cries you get cleansed with the right kind of soap. You can go into the Fountain as black as the devil and come out as white as an angel. John was a man of God, a big heap of love. God's Word stands sure. When the infidels tried to destroy it, they found a small cart left unburnt containing the words "The Word of the Lord is sure." It is God's letter to us.

Enoch walked with God; in fact he was a champion walker. He walked upon arm in arm, it will be still after a month. Do something. Coming along from New York, the track became a river, the train became a boat, and we steamed along between the hills and mountains, but the train kept on the track. Commodore, keep to the right track. Said a man on board the ship I came in, "I'll never reach Canada." Well, said I, "I'm going home anyhow." They say to me, "You're a turn-coat." I said "Well, I had no coat to turn when I got saved." Then I said my brains are turned, and my heart is turned. I have been called a mad man; now I am a mad man. Christ Jesus shall appear we shall be like Him. If you are not like Him you are not saved. Some of you are very dirty as sweeps. Get up and wash. As a burglar seeks the jewellery so the devil seeks your souls. Are you safe enough in your own house if you keep the devil out on the street. The best way to keep the devil out is to keep him shut-to the door, and make a face at him out of the window.

The following sayings were uttered by the Colonel and in his own inimitable way he applied each with force and power. "Sin is a big giant." Christ the Lord came boldly up to the penitent-form from the bank of the Temple, near the door, and the Lord Jesus said, "Come unto Me." They all found deliverance.

Queen's Park was to be the rendezvous in the afternoon. The Army of the Living God marched into the park, and the sight was a grand one. The crowds were excited. The grand Woodstock band wheeled round in a circular form. The Staff and officers were in their place, and a nearly a mile long procession formed around a temporary platform, on which the Commissioner, Mrs. Adams, and Staff had taken their seats. The Colonel felt at home in a regular boil, and for nearly two hours the monstrous crowd listened with eager and rapt attention, taking in all that was said. We never remember listening to a more lively, thrilling, searching discourse, than that of the Colonel's. Never than afternoon open-air. Mother Florence and the Cadets were there, and a lot of people came from Guelph, sang. The converted French-Canadian gave a beautiful testimony, and Lieut. Brown, of Stratford, sang, and our Hallelujah tailor gave a little account of his past life. Brother Duncan hit out praying, and the Commissioner with a hearty volley, and both gave their testimonies and vowed to do their uttermost for God and souls.

It would be impossible to describe the night's meeting, but the fact that fourteen precious souls found deliverance proves that God was there in great power. The Colonel meetings.

Major Morris enjoyed it.

By-the-bye, I saw the Major had a little colored boy on his knee. To all appearance, the crowd who gathered around that big will was very much interested in that open-air. The following are some of Colonel Cadman's remarks during the Holiness meeting:

"If some Christians were compelled to wear a red guernsey, they would become immediately well. Sin is a disease, and cures all diseases, without physic or a single pill. He cures his patients quickly and outright. The disease which I possess is a roaring giadness.

Every unconverted man is a big fool man. Some people don't have wandered from my text, but I have stuck to the text, and I have stuck to the text. The leper was healed immediately. No clock can strike that space of time. Sin makes a minute an hour, sixty immediately makes a moment. The Gospel is wonderful. When Bro. Richmond Street Jimmy ran across the floor a time or two; that other well-digger Jimmy sang as nobody else can sing. Lieut. By the Commissioner.

We have engaged in a war, a real war. The fight is hard and severe; the way is often strewn with blood and darkness. The Enemy on field is a mighty one—next in power to God. He wields a strong and mighty influence over the world, and commands the affection and attention of the principal portion of humanity. The Enemy is an experienced commander, thoroughly in all points in deluding and carrying off captive, the souls of mankind; he has legions of followers who engage to assist him in overturning the Kingdom of our Leader and Bring Desolation to our Troops.

Oh, how terrible is the fact that his banner with its skull and cross-bones glaringly marked on it floats defiantly on the breeze, and still leads on its millions to a burning hell to be damned.

How appalling the fact is that forces itself home to our hearts, that the devil experiences a great influence on the world and has convinced us that what is needed is something mighter, before the enemy can be conquered, and is it that God has mighter power, may be qualified in the school of profound education, and no matter how eloquent we may be let our sympathy flow from our lips, this seems and has been condemned as not being able to deal effectually with the case, and to apply the remedy the sorrow that sin brings. But glory to the Lamb, we have found out a mighter weapon than any the devil possesses. Jeremiah says,

"Thou art my Battle Axe"

Hallelujah! God can deal a death-blow to the powers of hell. He can split asunder the stinking shell of pufferdup conceit and self-esteem, and bring the captive of the devil into sweet submission to the Divine will of God, and make the sinner to tremble and the host of the roaring Jubilee. As we neared the hall we heard sounds of a mighty spiritual power, and hallelujas soon were sent the well-known form of Billy Byng, armed with his hammer and crowbar, quietly tearing down the walls of sin, and with the aide and workmanlike help of Capt. Alex. McLean (who accompanied us) we soon had the Temple shut-to the door, and make a face at him out of the window.

While working, some of the boys came in and said, "I've spent many a hard earned dollar in here. I'

Got Blind Drunk in Here,

but I guess its all over now. Several gangs came in and said they had spent money and aching heads and weary hearts that had been made through the traffic that had been made in these walls. Oh! who can tell of the sad lives that have been made through this, once dens of iniquity, the saved and blessed souls which satisfied not, and who can tell if there will not be many poor, tortured, damned souls in hell, to curse the day of this place as the door through which they entered eternity. May God grant to the Salvation Army that blessed work, and to be saved and prepared for Heaven instead of hell. Amen. During the day we had a gentleman who came down to see the alterations, were promptly bombarded by the D.O., who had stationed himself at the door which, we recognized by giving donations to help defray expenses. "Then awake," fairly crashed the mind, and the effect which, we soon realized that the H.T.B., was not around, when the band began to play. "Hundred-and-ninety-and-nine" was the D.O. Hundreds flocked around and some able speaking, energetic and sweet singing, and powerful praying, soon had the crowds about, during that "boiled," bilded, fizzled, and boomed. We were soon in the Temple and Lieuts. Kierstead and Harris, Soloes and testimonies interspersed with shouting "Glory," "Hallelujah," "Praise God," and other exclamations of joy kept us well interested till quite a late hour. I must not omit about the special collection which our beloved staff gainfully and willingly pulled out from the people, and which, I was told, was very plentifully over the few, and win every time, Leave the past. Let it go. Shape for the heavenly land, and let your face like Sinai against suggestions of man and devil, and with the blessed world of truth pealing from the second to the throne, step out to the right or left, but follow your Leader. He has never known defeat, and can sustain anyone who can cast their care upon Him. Bless Him.

Never Lost a Battle,

A CORRECTION.

NOTE.—The article "Obedience to Who," which appeared in the CRY a few weeks ago, was a misrepresentation of the facts and the people concerned therein. Will our comrades make a special note.

THE Devil Moving Out.

CAPT. TOM LEAVITT.

Can such a thing be possible? come one might ask. Well, we have seen it with our own eyes, and we can testify to it in the face, that in Picton, where we have had to have the large hall, we have got rid of the devil, and he has gone out as a gin shop and billiard hall. It was my privilege to accompany Staff Capt. Bolton for two days as a cadet, and I spending his roaring Jubilee. As we neared the hall we heard sounds of a mighty spiritual power, and hallelujas soon were sent the well-known form of Billy Byng, armed with his hammer and crowbar, quietly tearing down the walls of sin, and with the aide and workmanlike help of Capt. DOLBY or DOLBEN FAMILY, who

A Week at Port Hope.

"I believe we shall have a good time through this week's special meetings." So said Captain White to me as I arrived at Port Hope on Wednesday, 3rd Sept., for the purpose of conducting a week's special meetings. The Captain's wife met me he had laid the matter before his soldiers the evening previous, and said, he, "You should have heard the unanimous 'Amen' they gave when I asked all who were one mind to go for the week's meeting to give a volley." Glory to God; this was cheering news, and our faith ran high for great things. Our first meeting was a very blessed one, four dear comrades being enrolled as soldiers of the great S. A. while others were sought and found, that the Jesus, Friend. This was a very good start. Bless the Lord.

Our meetings each evening were all very good soul-strengthening times, and all day on the Sabbath the Lord was very nigh. We cannot easily forget that forenoon holiness meeting; how blessedly nigh the Master came and breathed upon us of His Holy Spirit. All felt and knew that He was slain and liveth again. At night another soul came to the Blood. Hallelujah!

We finished our week's meeting feeling that the Captains' prediction had indeed been well fulfilled, for our remembrance of the many blessings received while visiting and "War Cry"-selling is still very clear.

Then we cannot forget the kindness of our friends in providing you as the Lord wants. I tell you what, Port Hope is the place where they look after officers and know their husband is alive. Yes, truly, it is a land of corn and wine; what do you say, Capt. White? Sorry you are going to leave us, but I guess that the loss you shall sustain, in one sense, shall be more than counterbalanced by the wonderful blessing you are about to become possessor of. I won't say any more now Ed., so nobody will be much the wiser of what I have written, but I would just like to say before I quit that I wish you very much success and blessing in undertaking your new duties, but I forget.

Before I close this report I think it's but fair that I should thank the few comrades who so unselfishly helped us in Port Hope corps for their help during my week with them. God bless you, boys; keep on playing for Jesus, and by-and-by you shall play and sing in the Kingdom.

I would just like to ask each officer to take pattern by Capt. White in the matter of laying before your soldiers those special meetings when you know they are about to be held at your corps. Just a few words with your comrades; lay it upon their hearts; make them feel the responsibility that rests upon them; and I feel confident through God we shall do valiantly. Glory to His Name. Yours in Christ,

SHAMROCK.

Where Has Major Scott Been?

READ AND SEE.

"You are announced for some special meetings in Harbor Grace," said the wire we received from Major; so Cadet Day and the writer left for a nine mile walk (on foot as the train arrived from St. Johns with Major and Mrs. Coombs and Capt. Williams and soon after Lieut. Hoddinott and Cadet Bowering arrived from their stations. After a hearty and good refreshments we met at the barracks and "fell in" two and two the main St. to the British Hall, which had been hired for the occasion. We had quite a nice crowd and a good meeting, but closed without seeing anyone saved. We met in the afternoon for testimony, and a nice time we had! God came near and we claimed some of His Spirit for the day's meetings. Night's meetings were at ten o'clock, was the order. Major Day, and we had quite a nice time with the youngsters. What shall I say of the Holiness meeting? Well, it was grand. The blues of Full Salvation were made plain by Major and Mrs. Coombs and Lieut. Day. The visiting officers; the Spirit accompanied the word, and when the invitation was given for seekers, not one left the Hall, but were thirsty for the Blessing and one for pardon. It was one o'clock when we closed; but we were refreshed. We had to march again to the British Hall for the afternoon meeting. We had a good crowd and some convicious, but none yielded. We had a powerful time at night and people were brought to face eternal things as the truth was dealt out to them and we had three souls knelt at the feet of Jesus and testified to the fact that they were saved, of course we had a dance to close with. Monday night was announced as the presentation of colors and oh, what a crowd, some of the upper ten of H. G. were present. Major gave them some startling statistics and explained to them some of the works of the S. A. after which came the presentation of colors. I am sure, if the officers and soldiers are only true to what the colors represent and the vows made, the devil will have to look out.

I guess the people had their eyes opened to the fact that the S. A. was not just up to amuse people. Tuesday we walked to and although the majority of the people were away, we had a good crowd in the barracks. God enabled us to give the people some straight talk and I am sure they felt very uncomfortable, especially those who had voted for the candidate; but still they would not yield; but we had the promise that God's word should not return void and we just came from that meeting. Wednesday we walked back to H. G. and then drove to on arriving we learned that Mrs. Collier and Lieut. had three for pardon and one for purity. On Sunday we had a nice time at night, a good crowd in the audience and the platform full. The meeting was a good one but there was no one saved.

Bay Roberts,

Brigus.

comes next on the list, after a walk of eight miles through about as lonely a road as you generally see. Were we wet? Well, I guess! But we were paid, mind, we got there, and after drying ourselves, and having something to strengthen our body and a little prayer, we got for a meeting, after going through the principal street we return to find a nice crowd in spite of the rain. Major Day, the things people can reject all the offers of mercy and go on unsaved, so we had to close without any seeds. The night was lively and a larger crowd and a much better meeting, but the Lord's power was present and we had seekers, one of them a young man, who yielded. I guess it will take an earthquake (spiritual) to move the people, oh, they are so indifferent. Capt. Rink has just arrived, so I think things ought to go now, they have a Bishop.

We had a nice little officer's council at H. G. and another at Brigus, and what precious seasons they were, although only a short one, yet very heavy with God and richly blessed our souls. Hallelujah!

We closed the week by returning to our respective fields of labor, after attending eleven meetings, two officer's councils, seeing nine saved and THIRTEEN SANCTIFIED, walking about twenty miles, and we felt it was in the case of Sam one. Had Sam son avoided the wiles of the Philistine woman Delilah, he would have escaped, but he has been cut short as it was, in the very prime of his life. While fighting the enemies of our God, the Philistines, he was a barrass on in any way or you may get the worst of it as Sam son did. Keep separate. Be an out-and-out enemy of the world.

Satan as a Vampire.

Like the Vampire that he really is, the devil would like to fan you asleep with his wings while he would suck the life and power from your souls. "Watch and pray." Only by active warfare and constant prayer can you keep the fire burning, and keep your spiritual life.

The open grave soon awaits you, therefore work and fight for the Master while you have the golden Sabbath days.

Comrades! shake yourselves. If you are "Sleepy Sam sons" at the present time (read and digest Judges 16-20) for the love of perishing souls, wake up! wake up!! For the love of the Master, Arise! put on your Strength! even the STRENGTH of the Lord! "CONVERTED CARPENTER."

Major Spooner's Welcome Home.

For some time previous to Thursday, August 28th, bills might have been seen all round Peterboro' announcing a great welcome home demonstration on that date, occasioned by the return from England of Major Spooner, our much beloved leader in this division.

Captain Jones and his aides worked hard to make the occasion a success, and in the evening a nice tea was served in the basement of the barracks, to a very fair company of soldiers and friends.

Prompt at 7.30 p.m., the soldiers formed in procession order and paraded the town, headed by the visiting officers, some conspicuous amongst them being Major Spooner, dressed which, bye-the-bye, is a real, proper, devil-scarer. "Welcome home" rang out from the throats of the happy, soldiers, as well as from the brass instruments played so heartily by the boys, and judging from the many smiling faces, everybody was glad to see and welcome the Major to our middle again.

After a good, stirring march, which was made very attractive by the pretty blending of many colors, in the sashes worn by the female soldiers, also by the display of glaring red lights, both on the streets and from the turrets of the barracks, as the procession neared it on its return to the meeting. A large audience greeted us, and as the tall, soldierly form of Major Spooner was seen coming from a side entrance on to the platform, the shout of welcome that peeled forth from the soldiers, and was kept up by the brass instruments of the kind-boys, was enough to impress all present with the fact that our comrade was welcomed to the middle of a real of Salvationists. Capt. Bob Cunningham lined out for the opening song, "Jesus the Name high over all," was sung to the tune of "Ellen Rhee," and everybody joined in the chorus, "We have no other argument."

After some prayer, Mrs. Major Spooner, whom everybody was glad to see, also to be at the front again, lined out the second song.

Ensign Logan then led a lively testimony meeting for a few minutes, in which some real, definite, experiences were given. Mark, of course, being all there; and head, hands, feet and mouth ready to do the go at once. My it was a lively affair.

We then had a few words from the Rev. Mr. Parsons, a who praised God in real Army style for His wondrous Salvation, and then said he hoped the S. A. would march on and run the devil right away up the Mississippi to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, also saying he hoped the devil could not swim.

Converted French Catholic,

Then the Major came to the front, and as it had been announced that he would give us a sketch of what he had seen and heard since he left Canada, we had 20 minutes in Old England, all naturally expected a treat, and a bush of wrapt attention was given to the speaker, who as he travelled on to some of the wonderful things he had seen, was met at close vast gatherings. Some of us anticipated the Jubilee, but our anticipations were all completely swamped up, as we listened to the mighty things God had done and is still doing. We feel sure many in that meeting had been stirred up to go back home to the fest that the Salvation Army is a marvelous instrument in the hands of God, and a honor to Him that doeth all things well.

A few remarks from Mrs. Spooner brought the meeting to a close, all praising God, and knowing that truly He had wrought wonderful things. Glory to His Name.

It had also been announced that Major Spooner and Capt. Cunningham would conduct the meetings on Friday, and if anyone should happen to have taken a great fancy to the Major, and to be around on the morning of the 31st of August, between the hours of seven and eight, they would have seen a sight which would be worth waiting on the Lord; and judging from the way in which each rejoiced in God, and shouted, "Glory to God," and "Praise to God. He delights to bless all that call upon Him, in that knee-drill. His blessing and help were in full force, for the Major along in good time for open-air this forenoon counsaded "shouted Major, as we left the barracks for meeting.

At 10.30 a.m., a good company of soldiers turned out for open-air, headed by Major Spooner. The march was quite lively, a meeting held on the street in front of an empty building, and back to the barracks for holiness meeting, which was a time of much blessing. As Major many saw where they were deficient. The cloak was pulled aside, and two comrades sought a full deliverance, and one found sought Salvation. All arose, determined to trust Him who is mighty to save and to keep.

The afternoon march was very impressive, as the same and played "Salvation roll on through the nations," and the free-and-easy inside was a real wide-awake affair. The Major's remarks on the portion of the Scripture read, were used by God. A Salvation song from Major Cunningham, "Sweet Home in Cornwall" went beautifully. All were pleased to see and hear her again.

A few words from Lieut. Ollis, in which she told us how God had led and delivered since He brought to her, brings us to the prayer-meeting, which was well taken up by the soldiers; they were had to close without any visible results.

At night, another splendid march, and one of the best open-air meetings, I have had my privilege to be in for some time. A great crowd stood around. Perfect order prevailed. The testimonies from soldiers and officers being listened to very attentively. Then we sang "Beulah Land so bright and fair," was sung by Capt. Mrs. Cunningham, the chorus being well taken hold of by the vast audience. The announcements being made, we marched off for our inside meeting, the band playing rousing tunes.

Inside a large company had gathered, and soon the building was nicely filled. Again God drew very nigh, and a real good and impressive Salvation meeting was held. Commencing the prayer meeting we all got down before God, and some prayed, while others dealt personally with God's people, and souls were saved. Those who came to be put right, and afterwards testified to being saved. Glory to God!

On Monday we are off to Manvers (Millbrook one-post), where a banquet and jubilee is the order of the day. After a 32 mile drive we arrive at Bro. McCullough's, on whose lawn the banquet was being held, whereby a large gathering of people had assembled. The tables, which were well filled with splendid provisions, were also filled by a real happy looking crowd, who, as they partook of the nice things, chatted merrily one with the other. It looked just like a big family gathering, everybody seeming to enjoy themselves, and I tell you what it is, those Manvers people know how to get up a proper banquet and then to make a person feel at home amongst them. Just wait till you get some and then you'll find out. Why, we felt just right in our element, glory! Bye-and-bye we hear the thud of a drum, and in a few minutes the Lindsay Brass Band drove right into our midst. The boys have their tea, and then we have some Salvation music, which was very relished by all.

Our friends had a platform erected for the meeting, which was held in the open air, as great as the Jubilee meeting was entirely out of the question on account of the large crowd and the small building, the conversions and the testimonies were real, live, aggressive Salvationists, purpose having a larger building in which to worship God. Hallelujah!

The Jubilee was conducted by Major Spooner, who introduced the officers on the platform, surrounded by Capt. Rowan and Lieut. Prest, of Lindsay, Capt. Barker and Lieut. Scott, of Millbrook, Capt. Lennox and Capt. and Mrs. Cunningham of Peterborough. On his left stood the Lindsay Brass Band, which was ably led by an organ kindly lent for the occasion and played by Mrs. Cunningham. Everything went well O. A. S. etc., the discussions from the soldiers being of the proper stamp. A solo from

Brother Lindsay, of Lindsay,

"Go Wash in the Beautiful Stream," went with a bang. Then a few words from each of the officers went well, and Major's address was much blessed to all who heard him. Then a short from Capt. Rowan, who is an old officer here, brought us to the close of a very enjoyable evening praising the Lord in the country, the people seeming to evidently highly delighted with the way everything passed off.

Tuesday, we go to Millbrook, where a special meeting had been announced. We found Capt. Barker and Lieut. Scott busy preparing dinner for a hungry Englishman and two hungry Irishmen, who did justice to the good things placed before them; then had a good feed for the soul, glory to God!

A nice company of soldiers turned out for the march, and the open-air held on the street corner was one in which we are assured God was powerfully felt. A fair sized audience assembled in the barracks, and a good lively meeting was led by the Major, the soldiers participating in good shape. Thank God for the spirit that burns in the breasts of some of our Millbrook comrades. Bro. Cullum, my boy, testifies and sisters in Christ; keep the fire burning, and you shall continually rout the devil. A testimony from Capt. Cunningham, also from Ensign Logan, and we are into the Major's remarks, which did much towards removing misunderstanding with regard to the S. A., and what God is using the Army for, and what it is accomplish.

We closed a very profitable and blessed meeting, with much gratitude to God for His love and care.

A Few Things I Know.

An old lady, over 73 years old, walked seven miles to be enrolled as a soldier.

A soldier who didn't get on well in her soul, because she had fashionable clothing laid away for. "If" she left the Army.

A church member said, she didn't think much of a soldier or officer who went about their duties like a "sneak."

A minister who said he always got blest when he came to the Salvation Army, and the more he knew of them the better he liked them.

That the devil didn't get a victory when he said, "you look like a fool in red uniform."

That the blood of Jesus Christ can cleanse the vilest, as well as the proudest sinner.

That Jesus is keeping me unspotted from the world, and increasing my love for the souls of the lost. Hallelujah. WEAVER.

Sleepy Sam son s

SHORN OF STRENGTH BY SATAN

ARE YOU ONE OF THEM?

In our make we have some comrades with any amount of talent, strength, and power, who are practically wrapping their talents in a napkin, for they scarcely lead one soul to the Saviour in a lifetime. Such spiritual laggards must be lacking in Christian vitality. Surely they are not grafted into the Vine for Jesus has said, "He that abideth in Me and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit, for without Me you can do nothing."—John xv. 5.

This is the practical test of the cross-wisdom—of the true Salvation Soldier. Reader, if you are not winning souls for Christ, you must be a withered branch, fit only to be gathered and cast into the fire. Comrades, size yourselves up!

Victorious in Death.

Perhaps after the death of those lazy warriors we shall hear of five or ten souls being converted at their funeral service. In this event they might be said to resemble Sam son of old, of whom we read that "the dead at his death slew at his death more than they which he slew in his life."—Judges xvi. 30.

Take a look at comrades, and, in the strength of the Almighty God, slay the Philistines of Sin reigning in the hearts of the sinners all around you. Lift up your eyes and the laborers are FEW." "Work, for the night cometh when no man can work."

Comrades, don't let like Sam son as his death. And don't permit yourselves to be shorn of your strength by Satan, like Sam son was by the Philistines, when overcome by sleep, whether physical or spiritual. We are now in perilous times! Let God use your talents and strength.

Comrades, keep yourselves separate from the world, and be ye holy for God, for it was in the case of Sam son. Had Sam son avoided the wiles of the Philistine woman Delilah, he would have escaped, but he has been cut short as it was, in the very prime of his life. While fighting the enemies of our God, the Philistines, he was a barrass on in any way or you may get the worst of it as Sam son did. Keep separate. Be an out-and-out enemy of the world.

Satan as a Vampire.

Like the Vampire that he really is, the devil would like to fan you asleep with his wings while he would suck the life and power from your souls. "Watch and pray." Only by active warfare and constant prayer can you keep the fire burning, and keep your spiritual life.

The open grave soon awaits you, therefore work and fight for the Master while you have the golden Sabbath days.

Comrades! shake yourselves. If you are "Sleepy Sam sons" at the present time (read and digest Judges 16-20) for the love of perishing souls, wake up! wake up!! For the love of the Master, Arise! put on your Strength! even the STRENGTH of the Lord! "CONVERTED CARPENTER."

On Monday we are off to Manvers (Millbrook one-post), where a banquet and jubilee is the order of the day. After a 32 mile drive we arrive at Bro. McCullough's, on whose lawn the banquet was being held, whereby a large gathering of people had assembled. The tables, which were well filled with splendid provisions, were also filled by a real happy looking crowd, who, as they partook of the nice things, chatted merrily one with the other. It looked just like a big family gathering, everybody seeming to enjoy themselves, and I tell you what it is, those Manvers people know how to get up a proper banquet and then to make a person feel at home amongst them. Just wait till you get some and then you'll find out. Why, we felt just right in our element, glory! Bye-and-bye we hear the thud of a drum, and in a few minutes the Lindsay Brass Band drove right into our midst. The boys have their tea, and then we have some Salvation music, which was very relished by all.

Our friends had a platform erected for the meeting, which was held in the open air, as great as the Jubilee meeting was entirely out of the question on account of the large crowd and the small building, the conversions and the testimonies were real, live, aggressive Salvationists, purpose having a larger building in which to worship God. Hallelujah!

The Jubilee was conducted by Major Spooner, who introduced the officers on the platform, surrounded by Capt. Rowan and Lieut. Prest, of Lindsay, Capt. Barker and Lieut. Scott, of Millbrook, Capt. Lennox and Capt. and Mrs. Cunningham of Peterborough. On his left stood the Lindsay Brass Band, which was ably led by an organ kindly lent for the occasion and played by Mrs. Cunningham. Everything went well O. A. S. etc., the discussions from the soldiers being of the proper stamp. A solo from

Brother Lindsay, of Lindsay,

"Go Wash in the Beautiful Stream," went with a bang. Then a few words from each of the officers went well, and Major's address was much blessed to all who heard him. Then a short from Capt. Rowan, who is an old officer here, brought us to the close of a very enjoyable evening praising the Lord in the country, the people seeming to evidently highly delighted with the way everything passed off.

Tuesday, we go to Millbrook, where a special meeting had been announced. We found Capt. Barker and Lieut. Scott busy preparing dinner for a hungry Englishman and two hungry Irishmen, who did justice to the good things placed before them; then had a good feed for the soul, glory to God!

A nice company of soldiers turned out for the march, and the open-air held on the street corner was one in which we are assured God was powerfully felt. A fair sized audience assembled in the barracks, and a good lively meeting was led by the Major, the soldiers participating in good shape. Thank God for the spirit that burns in the breasts of some of our Millbrook comrades. Bro. Cullum, my boy, testifies and sisters in Christ; keep the fire burning, and you shall continually rout the devil. A testimony from Capt. Cunningham, also from Ensign Logan, and we are into the Major's remarks, which did much towards removing misunderstanding with regard to the S. We closed a very profitable and blessed meeting, with much gratitude to God for His love and care.

WAR NOTES.

The Eighth Anniversary.

It has come and gone again.

Those councils; those marches; those meetings.

Many souls will never forget those gatherings.

Before the Anniversary, they were living in sin and carelessness.

Now they are praising the Salvation Army's God for saving their souls.

Staff-Capt. Bennett, the J. S. warrior, and Staff-Capt. Fisher, are steadily beginning to feel at home in Canada. Everybody pray that God will give them mighty victories in their different spheres of labor.

Every officer, soldier, and convert should read the Commissioner's appeal for 1,000 candidates, on page 2.

Read the article right through, and then be convinced that God wants some one to volunteer for those different branches of our work. Will you volunteer?

The Commissioner spent a night with the soldiers of the temple recently, and had a wonderful time. Read the account of it in this issue.

Yes, it is a fact, the extension of our Rescue work has begun, and a Home has been opened in Stratford. The account of the opening in another column is very interesting.

Our dear comrades, Capt. McKenzie and Lieut. Smith, who are in charge of the Home have need of our prayers; let us all bear them up before the Throne.

Our "Children's Shelter," has already begun, although we are not yet prepared for it, dear little boy was picked up, bare-headed, bare-footed, and ragged and dirty. Now he can be seen around the temple neatly dressed, with F. K., clean and neatly dressed.

Staff-Capt. McHardy writes:—"I am enjoying myself immensely here, and as happy as one can be outside of heaven. Love to all.

At Lisgar Street, on the Anniversary Sunday, Major Spooner and Ensign Logan led on the forces, and five souls for pardon, and four for sanctification, was the result of the day's fight.

Fourteen souls at the Temple, the same night. Colonel Cadman worked hard, and made every one else do likewise, with the above result. PRO TEM.

OVERLAND TO BRANDON.

Having received orders to proceed to Brandon from Moose Jaw by overland route, with my worthy friend, Lieut. O'Neil, we were delayed for a few days, but got off in good shape for a good trip. After starting we had to keep a good look out for water, it being very scarce. Not so with the Living Water of life, for the weary travellers, their thirst may be quenched at any point along the trail of life. However, we got along well till one of our oxen got sick, and we found out which had part of a cart harness on it as it came up. The pony went off towards the point of starting at full speed. Praise God for the pony, and for the ox, and our truant was brought back. Oh! what a lesson we can learn. When the devil comes we find wild separations, and poor is his person, stand your ground. The Lord of hosts has promised to be with you. Hallelujah. At a small place called Greenfield, a man came to our camp and enquired if we belonged to the Salvation Army. Our reply was, "We are." After shaking of hands, he asked, "is it true?" We answered "Yes," to the Booth Army. "Praise God, the old rebel cried, I was in your ranks, and asked if he was saved. Placing his hand on his heart, said, "Christ is mine and I am Christ's." After a word of prayer, we were about to start. He told us this was the first open-air meeting he had attended since leaving the Old Country. Here true our God is; He can, and does keep wherever we may be. If we look to Him we shall obey His will. Day after day we journeyed. Our pony took sick. I called for a veterinary surgeon to see what could be done, and with his skill we were soon at ease on our minds about our pony. After a short rest we were soon on the way, but being to late to get to Brandon as expected, stopped over Sunday on the prairie beside water and wood. Our God is good to those who trust Him. Thank God we arrived at our destination all safe. We had found Christ, Faith and her aids, pitching into the enemy. Thus ending our 266 miles trip over the red man's native country, and home. Capt. W. A. F.

War Words from Woodstock

Climbing the Cupboard—Mad Tom in Bedlam—An Interesting Conversation—A Terrible Character Saved—The Singing did It.

When I was a drunkard, I used to do all sorts of things. One night when I came home I was very drunk, and I started to climb up the cupboard to get to bed instead of going up stairs.

While in England I was told that in our district I was in there were over one hundred public houses, and this to only twelve thousand inhabitants.

They have all sorts of peculiar signboards in front of the saloons. Here is one of them. Right in front of the door is the picture of a man standing at the bar with a pot of ale with the words under him and on the other side of it, is the picture of the same man outside of the saloon with the words Tom of Liberty.

Mad Tom in Bedlam,

"When I got saved I entered the kingdom of heaven, but when I got sanctified the kingdom of heaven came into my heart."

This is the testimony from a drunkard's wife, who used to be one of my workmates while I was unsaved. After I had left home and been in the field for some time I went home on a visit and wanted to talk to him about his soul, and as we parted and shook hands I gave him a shilling, and I thought he would have spent it on drink, but instead of that he took it home and gave it to his wife, telling her who he met from me, and also saying that he could not spend it on drinks—his wife said that although they had been married for a number of years, this was the first shilling that he had brought home to her that he had received from my person.

BAPTIST to METHODIST.—You are disloyal to your church in helping the Salvation Army and giving your money to them.

METHODIST—I am not disloyal to my church, I love my church, but I love all God's people, I have some neighbours around about me, and when they need help I always help them, but that does not say that I am disloyal to my wife and children by helping them.

BAPTIST.—You ought to get to meetings and get souls saved in your own Church and get them to become members in this Church.

METHODIST.—You are jealous of the Army because they are doing a work that you and I ought to do, but we have no power to do it, and you do not want the Army to get the men that they are getting.

BAPTIST.—Why should you love the Army, and go oftener to hear them than you go to Church?

METHODIST.—I love the Army because they go to the souls and get them, and because they are all on fire, and all alive. Why, take four living members out of our large Church and how many will you have left. Let me take three living members out of your Church, and how many have you left.

BAPTIST.—That is so. Good morning.

Woodstock meetings were a success all round. One soul for pardon, one for sanctification, and one went home to glory.

The Salvation Army boys are all alive and going in for great times. Toronto will again be visited by the boys at the holiday.

The two day's Council with all the officers in the Division was a season of rich blessing to all of us, and I believe the officers went home to their corps more determined than ever to fight the battle to the end.

INGERSOLL is still booming away. They had a Band Concert the other night, when the Woodstock Band happened to be there for a day, and it was a success. They clear-ed $125 dollars. What do you think of that for a Jubilee?

Twelve more converts were enrolled as soldiers of the great Army, and still there are more to follow, who will be ready for the next enrollment.

CHATHAM is holding its own pretty well. Wet weather is turning and bad weather the crowds do not come, yet they march along, and I had a very good meeting the other night, Sunday night.

ST. THOMAS has had victory all along the line. Capt. Davis and Lieut. Meaton who have charge of the corps, another part of the battle field have done a blessed work for God, and although they have left, their names will never be forgotten by many of the people of St. Thomas.

They have just had a real good case of conversion, that of a young man who has been in prison almost 11 years for breaking the laws at different times, but now he is saved and happy. Having no home, one of the soldiers took him to his home and made him comfortable, and got him work in this city, and now he is drummer as the corps.

While out on the street marching last night at St. Thomas, a young man came staggering after us, and I got hold of him and we walked arm in arm back to the barracks. While singing in the march the words took hold of him, and he cried bitterly, and all through the meeting he prayed and wrestled with God for mercy. At the close he was quite sober and professed to get saved. May God keep him true to his vows made that night.

I and the Design with the Scribe, praise God for a full salvation. JOHN SHARP.

The Poor Man's Workshop

A Visit From Mr. Henry George and the Rev. Mr. Huntington, of New York.

From the English Cry.

Mr. Henry George, the well-known advocate, lecturer and worker in the interests of humanity, during his brief stay in London visited the various meetings of the Social Reform Wing and left behind him many warm expressions and assurances of sympathy and confidence as to our future success.

The Rev. Mr. Huntington, son of Bishop Huntington, of the American Episcopal Church, visited, in company with Mr. George, the workshop and Whitechapel Mission, and also attended the prayer-meeting, the noon prayer meeting that they arrived, and both gentlemen had a few words to say to the lads. The scene was unmistakably one of much interest, and we believe our visitors carried away with them the keenest impressions, and we are quite sure our lads will not easily forget the earnestness, burning words of the speakers and the deep interest they evinced in their welfare.

Mr. Huntington said:—"My brothers, when I come into the workshop and saw you on your knees it reminded me of what might have been seen eighteen centuries ago in another vast city sacred as Jerusalem, where the streams of suffering and pleasure, of poverty and wealth, were just as you find them here. There, too, you would have found a little band of men, just of your class, on their knees with

The Adorable Name of Jesus on their Lips.

They were a few Christians who knew that at any moment they might have been arrested and cast to the lions, to be torn asunder by them, because they dared to talk of and believe in Jesus. We were nobly witnessed for Him against the sin, the injustice, the cruelty and wrong of those who persecuted them. But they found that God who became in Jesus a poor, despised, abused and crucified Man. Him they trusted and they conquered and the light of the Cross streamed over the imperial city.

Their Comfort, their Solace and Strength in God Almighty,

"So you, to-day, my brothers, notwithstanding your poverty and distress, and the oppression and monopoly and indifference to your sufferings of those who should think of and care for you, to-day, you find there is safety and strength, help and comfort in Jesus. If you will but come to Him. You may, by His grace, be poor and outcasts, be good and noble and true—true to yourselves, true to one another, true to the principles of righteousness, and shall be your Saviour and Friend for time and for eternity?

Be the Father of Love,

Mr. Henry George said he had come to see for himself the beginning of The Salvation Army's noble attempt to grapple with this great social problem. He was rejoiced to see that they were on the right road, and that it was not by virtue of God's law that any man willing to work should be unable to find work. He was sure starvation or poverty to be the lot of mankind. In God's sight all men were equal, they were alike created by Him, and were entitled to enjoy the reward of honest labor. Until this first great recognition, and the laws made by man relating to the land which was given by the Almighty to man, were altered, they might expect to have to contend with such a state of society as they had at pre-sent.

The Almighty Never Intended Destitution,

WHY NOT?

I am just seated in an outhouse trying to collect some thought for the "Cry," but my mind unceremoniously revert to an old waistcoat hanging before me.

The front part is all good and perfect, buttons there, and buttonholes in first-class condition; but the back is all ragged, tattered and torn, in fact just barely holding together.

With the aid of a coat, this waistcoat makes a fairly good show, and the thought strikes me that there are many polished Christians like this.

While in the company of God's standard and strong children, (an outer garment as it were,) they make a fairly good appearance, but let them take off their coat—let them stand alone—in the home, in the workshop, on the car, or the street, and how it is with them, are they rags? Are they faithful? Are they strong in the service of God?

Reader, does God dwell in you always, night and day, sunshine or storm, anywhere and everywhere? Just think of it, and ask yourself the question

WHY NOT?

Is your light burning bright in the sunlight,
To guide you should clouds come along?
Is your light burning bright in the twilight,
To make you still bolder and strong?
Is your light burning bright in the workshop,
In the place where you toil the day thro'?
Is your light burning bright in your own shop,
Is it burning, bright, shining and true?
Is your light burning bright in the kitchen
Though all that you do every day?
Is your light burning bright while you're cooking
The water from wells far away?
Is your light burning bright on the prairie,
When crossing it lone and alone? he felt
Is your light burning bright before Mary,
The girl whom you wed long ago?
Is your light burning bright on the street car,
As "way down to business you go?
Is your light burning bright in transactions,
You carry on all the day through?
Is your light burning bright in the stable,
When cattle around you are fed?
Is your light burning bright at the table,
No matter with whom you may be?
Is your light burning bright to the core? mine.
The light of Salvation I mean?
Is your light burning brightly at all times,
Unmistakably brilliant and keen?
Is your lamp filled with oil of consecration,
In accordance with what you did vow?
If not then without hesitation,
Just fix it up right away now. S. S

Jottings From Charlottetown, P.E.I.

God is blessing our open air work here. A young woman came to our penitent-form last week who had first been converted in the open air meeting on the market square, while Capt. Jower was speaking.

This summer a young manified a triumphant death through our open air work. He belonged to a church where much ceremony is practised in preparing someone for death, (annointing for death as it is called.) He said he did not want anyone to do that for him, for he had heard the way of Salvation through Christ in the meetings of the Salvation Army, and he knew that nothing but the blood of Jesus could save him and he was ready to die. Hallelujah for such a God and Saviour. We fight on greatly cheered and encouraged.

We held some blessed Sunday afternoon meetings in the park (Victoria park) this summer. Crowds listened most attentively. We had a good number of souls because God says, "My word shall not return unto Me void, for it shall accomplish that which I please and prosper in the things whereunto I have sent it."

Many people said the new barracks would never be built, and even went so far as to say we were going to sell the ground, but they are among the false prophets now. Our hallelujah builder and contractor, Capt. Rogers, has been here and set things going. Workmen are on the ground digging, &c., and D.V., we shall be shouting hallelujah in it before Christmas.

We had a successful 10 cent tea in the old barracks last Thursday. But now comes the sorrowful part. Afterwards we said farewell to Capt. and Mrs. Jewer. They have been much esteemed by soldiers and friends. The Lord bless them abundantly wherever they go. We hope to see them again at the opening of our new barracks. Lieut. McDonald is still holding on to God. bless him. Staff Capt. Barrett and Capt. Rogers were back here last week, we hope they will come again very soon. Oh! of course, you! they are coming when the foundation stone of our new barracks is laid.

I had almost forgotten to say that we visited the Winsloe Road outpost a short time ago. There is a band of real blue and fire soldiers there. We had a blessed time. We hope to see them in the future; when they will have an officer of their own.

We hope some of our comrades in Ontario and elsewhere will aspire to the honor of putting a number on our new barracks. If you only knew how much we are in need of help, you would I am sure lend a helping hand. A post-office order or cheque will be thankfully received. SIG.

A Good Prescription.

CAPT. J. H. MERRETT.

A Remedy For Frozen Up Christians.

I heard a talo the other day, and it has such a fine moral that I must repeat it. A gentleman was going a journey from a certain city to his own home, some miles distant. The weather was bitter cold, and though the gentleman had taken every precaution within his power to protect himself, yet he found the cold so bad he felt that he was being speedily overcome. He was determined, however, to reach the end of his journey if it was at all possible, and so he gathered all his strength together, and pressed forward. In spite of all his efforts to keep his body warm, however, the cold seemed to strike right through him. His limbs became numbed and stiff, and it became evident that he would perish. But just as he was about to give up and lie down his foot struck against something lying in the road, and stooping down he discovered the form of a poor man, who was just about dead with the cold. Forgetting all about himself and his own state, the gentleman was touched with sympathy for the dying traveller, and he set to work to rave him to life. He began to rub him vigorously with his hands, to cause the blood to circulate, and after a long time, and much hard work, he had the joy of seeing his charge restored to life and strength again. But that was not all that was accomplished, for, judge his surprise, when, upon turning his attention again to himself, he found that, not only had his efforts resulted in showing to his friend in bringing warmth and life back to him, but he himself was also thoroughly warmed up, the blood circulated freely, and he was saved from being frozen to death.

In the Snow to Die,

Here is a good lesson for every Christian, both those who are nearly frozen up, and those who still retain their activity. What a lot of people there are who come to get saved, and afterwards go on their way to Heaven, seeming only to think of themselves and their own welfare, and thinking little or no regard for the souls of those around. As long as they are blessed and happy, they care little about how others fare. But is it any wonder, that, like the gentleman above mentioned, they soon begin to feel the cold of worldliness and zeal of the spirit seems to leave them, and they commence to realize that, in spite of all their cares and efforts to live

They are Doomed to be Spiritually Frozen to Death.

But here we also find a remedy. If any of my readers are in that state just now, do as the gentleman did, look around you and find someone who needs help and help, forgetting your own interest, set to work to do something for them. You will then find fellow creatures who will bless others, you will also get blessed yourself, and the very strength you use in helping others will be returned to you with a hundred-fold blessing upon your own head. God never saves anyone merely for their benefit, but that they may be a blessing to others, and in the end, God will also receive of Him to administer unto others, and I always find the best way to get a blessing myself is to go in with the object of doing good to someone else, and I never get disappointed myself. "He that soweth sparingly, shall reap also sparingly; and he that soweth bountifully, shall reap also bountifully." The Lord will not bless slothful lazy spiritual children.

The Commissioner

WITH HIS SOLDIERS.

A GRAND TIME AT THE TEMPLE

On Monday night, Sept. 8th, the Temple was the rallying point for about 350 of Toronto's Salvation Soldiers; the event being a united soldiers' meeting, led by the Commissioner. Everyone had come with the full experience of being wonderfully blessed, and having a good time in general, and they were not disappointed.

The Commissioner taking his place on the platform with the Chief and Field Secretaries and Majors Leighton and Margetts, was the which made the building ring. Col. Young gave out the opening song, "We'll gird on the armor," and to say the least this went with a "bang." Everybody joined in the strain, and the chorus was sung over and over again, even our leaders had to indulge in a dance around the platform, they were determined to get the starch out of everyone else, for they sang the chorus until their hands and heads until the most of crowd was doing the same.

A boiling-over, red-hot prayer meeting followed, and the earnest wrestling of the soldiers bothkened a good time all through. The Chief led the testimonies, and the soldiers were popping up all over the shop, if they were too long the Commissioner would which meant they were to cut it short. Among those who testified was a dear lad from Quebec who couldn't talk English, he testified in his own language, God bless him. Bud Watkins was all there and his "Amens" could be heard all over the hall. Cymbal Billy's testimony was strong. "We're marching on to w.w." These and a lot of others told in a few words how happy they felt, and how they were saved. Capt. Lee, the colored songstress, accompanied by her guitar, sang "I'm glad I am a soldier."

Commissioner then stepped forward, and said he was glad he was a soldier, and in the fight. He was

Up to His Eyes in It.

He was not only right in the top story, but right also behind the watch pocket, and he did what God told him, without any fault-finding. He had his soul healthy by running to and fro doing small things for God, and, by faithfully doing the little things, God sometimes gave him big things to do, and always brought him off more than conqueror. He then went into details of his glorious work, he had the joy of seeing his charge restored to life and strength again. But that was not all that was accomplished, for, judge his surprise, when, upon turning his attention again to himself, he found that, not only had his efforts resulted in blessing to his friend in bringing warmth and life back to him, but he himself was also thoroughly warmed up, the blood circulated freely, and he was saved from being frozen to death.

FIRST TOUR OF THE 113th St. John's Brass Band.

We left home on Saturday morning, Aug. 23rd, to pay our first visit as a band to some of the outlying towns of Nova Scotia. Arriving at Yarmouth about 3.30 p.m., we were conveyed in a large band wagon drawn by four dashing horses to the officers' quarters where a first-class supper had been spread for us. Some of the boys had acquired quite an appetite after their day's travelling, and the way the good things disappeared was surprising. We were off to the barracks and were given a good reception, good crowd and a lot of soldiers all on fire. Things went with a swing; new songs, new choruses, new duets. Everybody seemed to rejoice. Now the invitation is given to sinners to come to our Christ and King, but the devil was hard at work and none would yield.

A good crowd appeared at knee-drill and we feasted together on the good things of our God, rejoicing that He had received us.

Big march at 10 o'clock after which we had a blessed prayer meeting, many testified to the power of God to keep free from sin. Hallelujah.

The afternoon free-and-easy was a regular old time jubilee, and the interest manifested by the audience was remarkable. But the devil was hard at work and none would yield.

Sinners and Backsliders, Take Warning!

On Sunday a young man, a backslider, sat in our meeting, shaking under the power of God, and, when spoken to about his soul, wept, but refused to yield. The Lieut. spoke to him for a long time, and urged him to get prepared to meet God at once; a number of the soldiers entreated him to give God his heart. I dealt with him until getting on for ten o'clock, and then left him and came up to the front, and said, "Now, soldiers I want some backsliders; we must get Brother P——— saved." The soldiers gathered around him, and fell on their knees, and wrestled with God for his soul's Salvation. Ten o'clock came, he still refused, and wanted to leave the hall. I said to him, "My brother, I feel this is your last chance of mercy." "So do I," cried a number of the soldiers. We went on wrestling and pleading; we all felt, if he left the building unsaved, he would be lost. He wept as we pleaded, until a quarter-past ten, when down he went on his knees, and cried unto God to restore unto him His Salvation, and left about half-past ten saved. He attended our meetings up to Monday night, October 14th; next day he left work ill, Friday, October 17th, he died triumphantly trusting in Jesus. Backslider, it may be your turn next; take warning. Capt. E.C.

A TESTIMONY.

Before I was converted, I led a very wild life, and went far and deep into sin and drink. Like the Prodigal, I wandered far, left home and friends, a good situation, and spent my money in riotous living. Many a time when the money was done, I had to be glad to sit on four bricks, by the side of a watchman's fire, in the open street, for a night's lodging, and walk the streets in the pouring rain, without a shelter, a home, or a friend; and I never shall forget the day when I was going to jump in the river to end my misery.

While I have been laying ill, I have often thought what a mercy it was God did not cut me down in my sin. I should not have been ready; no, I would have been lost for ever in the burning lake, where there is weeping and gnashing of teeth, but, Hallelujah! I heard the Saviour's loving call, and I jumped for my life into the arms of Jesus, and have been happy ever since.

Should this fall into the hands of a wandering one—my precious friend, if you go on in your sinful living, and drink, and die, remember you will be rewarded according to your deeds, and the wages of such is death, and a portion in the burning lake.

To Our Poets.

Some generous comrade, name unknown, has seen our appeal for good songs, and sent us up the following plea in rhyme—no doubt in a spirit of deep sympathy with our need in this respect. The lines run as follows:—

"We want some songs with proper go,
In which some Blood and Fire flow,
To pierce the hardest human heart,
And force them from their sins to part,
Of late they have been very dry—
Of such we have a full supply.
They must be all original,
If not they won't appear at all.
So think and write and do your best,
On war, or peace, or Holiness.
You need not write them very long,
But go to work, and send them on."

We hope this encouragement of our appeal will be well responded to.

ORIGINAL SALVATION SONGS.

1 DID YOU EVER GET LEFT

BY MAJOR BAGSH.

TUNE—Isn't it funny they don't.

There's a question that often is asked as a joke,
'Tis this, "Did you ever get left?"
The meanings are many this question suggests,
When asked "Did you ever get left?"
If you go for a boat or a train and you find
It's only just gone, but has left you behind,
It may appear funny, but its not very kind
To be asked, "Did you ever get left?"

CHORUS.

Oh, say, did you ever get left?
Oh, say, did you ever get left?
'Twas pleasure you sought,
But trouble you caught,
Oh, say, did you ever get left?

Now here's a poor gambler, we'll just start with him,
And ask, "Did you ever get left?"
You felt fascinated and sure you would win,
But say, "Did you ever get left?"
He'll answer you, "Yes, I thought I would win.
But got disappointed again and again;
I lost all my cash, then I had to give in,
And I felt I was properly left."

Next comes the poor drunkard, we'll ask him the same,
"Oh, say, did you ever get left?"
You once mastered drink, but it now mastered you,
Oh, say, "Did you ever get left?"
"Yes, when I first started my drinking career,
The thought of a drunkard I'd treat with a sneer,
I'd never be mastered by whiskey or beer,
But, oh, I got properly left."

There are so many sinners, to mention them all
I'm sure I'd be properly left;
If you think of the drunkards and gamblers are all,
"I'll say" "You are properly left."
There's temper and pride which often are seen,
And many a heart, like a cage, is unclean,
God's all-seeing eye can discern you within,
Take care that you do not get left.

Old Satan once thought that he had me so grand,
But, oh, he got properly left:
You are not half so bad as some others you know,
But there he got properly left.
I felt that my sins were too many to bear,
I cried, "Lord have mercy," He answered my prayer,
I fell in the fountain, 'twas good to be there,
And my sins they got properly left.

The Saviour is coming to gather all those
Who hide in the Rock that was cleft;
The sheep on the right hand of Jesus will stand,
While the goats are to stand on the left.
Oh terrible day, poor sinner prepare
While Jesus is waiting to answer your prayer,
If once down in hell there is no pardon there,
In despair you will ever be left.

2 COME AWAY HOME.

BY CAPT. WEBBY.

TUNE—Rock-a-by-baby.

Wandering out on the desert so bare,
Far from the fold and the Shepherd's kind care;
Sinner, O hear now the pleadings of love,
Start for the fair fields of Eden above.

REFRAIN.

While He is calling heed His sweet voice,
While He is waiting make Him your choice;
Dangers surrounding you, do not delay,
Fear not to follow, haste to obey.

CHORUS.

Come away, come away, come away home,
O sinner, O sinner, O why will you roam,
In mercy the Saviour free pardon will give,
O, come while you may to Jesus and live.

Why will you linger upon the broad way?
Why in the darkness and misery stay?
Pardon and heaven are offered to thee,
Purchased by Jesus on Calvary's tree.

Sinner, awake! and escape from the snare
That's binding and dragging you down to despair;
Be not deceived by earth's glittering show,
That promises pleasure but leads you to woe.

Jesus in pity looks down from the skies,
Offers you mercy and bids you arise;
No one but Him can give life to the soul,
No one but Jesus can make sinners whole.

3 A PENITENT'S PLEA.

BY MAJOR BOWEN.

TUNE—Nothing but Thy Blood can save Me.

Lord, my soul is now distressed,
Nothing but Thy blood can save me;
For Thy law I have transgressed,
Nothing but Thy blood can save me;
Lay my sins before me rise
Nothing but Thy blood can save me;
Up like mountains towards the skies,
Nothing but Thy blood can save me.

CHORUS.

Oh, no, nothing do I bring, etc.

Pardon through Thy name I plead;
Cleansing in Thy blood I need;
Pity me in my sad plight,
To forgive is Thy delight.

Jesus, now I feel Thee near;
Gone is every doubt and fear;
Peace and joy I now possess,
Through Thy blood and righteousness.

4 HAPPY, COME WHAT MAY.

ED. MORINE, NEAR RIVER.

TUNE—With a Sorrow for Sin, etc.

Oh, 'tis nice to be converted,
And from sin to know you're saved,
With your heart made pure and white in Jesus' Blood.
That your title's clear for heaven,
Your transgressions all forgiven,
And you're daily treading in the steps He trod.

CHORUS.

Oh I'm happy come what may
Since King Jesus is my Stay;
And I cannot help but tell it to the world;
For the Saviour He has washed me—
In the Blood of Calvary,
And each day to me his truth He does unfold.

Oh, I'm glad I'm in the Army,
Since from sin I know I'm free,
And that Jesus has become my bosom Friend;
If I faithful shall endure,
Keep my garments spotless pure,
He will guide me safely to my journey's end.

Now poor sinner come to Jesus,
For your soul He waits to bless,
On the Cross He died that you might be set free;
Think of how He must have suffered!
Who those wounds could endure—
But the Lamb, the spotless Lamb of Calvary?

5 COMING TO THE FOUNTAIN

BY A FRIEND, HAMILTON.

TUNE—Shall we Gather at the River?

Jesus, Saviour, I am waiting
To be cleansed from every sin;
Wash me in the precious fountain,
Make me pure and white within.

CHORUS.

Yes, I am coming to the fountain;
Coming to the precious cleansing fountain;
Wash me in the sin-cleansing fountain,
And make me white as snow.

Long I've waited, long I've struggled
For the cleansing fountain,
But "as I am" to Thee I'm coming;
Take me, make me free from sin.

Now I feel the blood applied,
Christ is mine, I know I am;
The blood from His precious, wounded side
Makes me now as white as snow.

6 REST FOR THEE.

BY CAPT. GIDEON MILLER.

TUNE—Life for a look.

There is rest in the Saviour,
Oh poor trembling soul,
There is rest at this moment for thee
Then come as you are,
He will not cast you out,
There is rest in the Saviour for thee.

CHORUS

Rest, rest, rest, for thee,
Then come as you are
With your poor weary soul,
There is rest in the Saviour for thee.

It was for you on the cross
His own life He gave,
Just look at His sufferings for thee,
Then come with your load
Of sin, guilt, and shame,
There is rest in the Saviour for thee.

There is room at the cross
For all who will come,
Salvation is full and so free,
Oh, why then so long is sin so on,
When there is rest in the Saviour for thee?

7 WE MEAN THIS WORLD FOR JESUS.

TUNE—Come in, My Lord; or, A Life on the Ocean Wave.

We mean this world for God,
We cannot be denied,
For He has bought it by His Blood,
For this our Saviour died.
We mean to spread His grace
Where souls are in abounds,
Through every clime, in every place,
Salvation songs to sound.

CHORUS.

This world shall be set free,
This is our rallying cry,
From land to land, from sea to sea,
Our colours we will fly.
Advance, advance,
The bugle sounds advance.

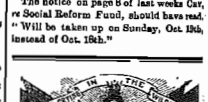
Jesus, the Lord of Hosts,
Shall lead the Army on,
For God, the Holy Ghost,
With Him hath sent us one.
Wielding the Spirit's sword,
Which pierces hearts of steel,
With mighty power we'll speak the word
And make the rebels kneel.

We mean to win this world
For Christ our glorious King;
Back to his dungeon Satan hurl,
And heaven on earth we'll bring.
This shall be brought about,
The world be hard again,
And then with bounding heart we'll shout
"Jehovah now doth reign!"

Oh! for more soldiers bold,
Who for our God will fight
Like those that men who fought of old,
And served with such delight.
Oh, for more men of power,
Who naught on earth can scare,
Who always in the darkest hour
For God will do and dare.

NOTE.

The notice on page 6 of last weeks Cry, re Social Reform Fund, should have read, "Will be taken up on Sunday, Oct. 19th, instead of Oct. 26th."



SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27TH, 1890.

Particular attention is elicited to our front page this week, "The Round of Life." It shows the different stages of the life of a great many Salvationists. Starting from infancy, it goes to school-boy days, youth, etc., until he becomes a S.A. officer.

Staff-Captains Bennett and Fisher, who have lately dropped down in our midst are already up to their eyes in their special work. God will mightily use them, and with their help the work can't help but move on faster than ever.

Our dear comrades Ogle and Cadman are still visiting the Colonel is hard at it. He has already visited some of our corps in Ontario, and by his wonderful words of council and reproof has won himself into everybody's heart. Comrades, pray that his Special Campaign may be mightily owned of God, not merely in getting many sinners converted, but also in the building up and strengthening of our dear souls throughout the Dominion.

Col. Cadman.

The Commissioner's Eastern Tour.

Our dear Commissioner, assisted by Majors Holland and Leighton, start out on their eastern tour in a few days. Lieut. Lee, the colored songstress and guitar player, accompanies them. Their tour will extend about a month. Every officer and soldier pray that God will accompany them in an especial manner, so that His Kingdom may be greatly extended as the results of our dear leader's visit.

SUFFERING.

From "Mystery of Suffering," by Dr. Brooks, St. Louis.

"There is One who once walked in the darkness,
Forsaken and all alone,
And He left there a voice of singing,
Which He giveth to His own.
He giveth—ah! yes, He giveth—
You can read the mystery now;
For He strikes the joyous key-note
Where the circling seraphs bow.

Is the midnight closing round you?
Are the shadows dark and long?
Ask Him to come close beside you,
And He'll give you a new sweet song;
He'll give is and sing it with you;
And, when weakness lets it down,
He'll take up the broken cadence
And blend it with His own.

And many a rapturous minstrel,
Among those sons of light,
Will say of His sweetest music,
"I learned it in the night";
And many a rolling anthem,
That fills the Father's home,
Sobbed out its first rehearsal
In the shade of a darkened room."

BE DEFINITE.

LIEUT. MALTON.

While picking up the dear old "War Cry," which has improved and become more interesting and helpful since I written by old comrades whom I know well, and some with whom I have worked, and while reading their reports, scattered with the Spirit, it has brought me back to old times and made me feel a yearn within me; and while others have encouraged me, I have wondered if I couldn't improve the one we talked God has given me, and try and cheer somebody else.

If a man or a woman starts out with a definite object in view, of gaining souls and pleasure, and all the world can afford to give, as far as those things satisfy, their anticipations are more than met. How eager they are; they meet with some person whose pursuits are in the same direction, they are of the same spirit, as it were, and understand one another, because their aims were the same. And while they expressed their mind to one another, how fresh life seemed to stir up their very being.

And it is the same on the other hand. A person may have had all the wealth his heart craved for, but someway he has lost it all, and he meets with someone just in his circumstances, and how their hearts cling around and sympathize with one another.

We have to pass through the furnace ourselves before we can thoroughly understand what others mean. Oh! to be able to "weep with those that weep, and to rejoice with those that rejoice," and to be willing to do for those who suffer, and to sympathize with those who need sympathy.

Never was my heart more drawn out in love and pity for the poor backslider than this last week, as I saw them crying in their seats, and great tears of remorse and bitterness rolling down their cheeks.

This must be the Wuxwood and the Gall Jeremiah speaks of concerning the prophets. Oh, how bitter it is to drink. Once walked with God, lived in touch with Him, know His voice, and heard His faintest whisper, and how sweet the communion was, unruffled and unbroken, and how willing, and swift their feet were to run to do His bidding. But sin, in an unwatched for moment, the coil that has been wrapped so tenderly around so many souls, has crept around them both body and soul, and cast them into the pit, that has ensnared them.

The pride of the eye, and the lust of the flesh, how delicately the serpent has laid it out before them, and how enticing it has looked, and how fair it was, they have taken of the forbidden fruit, and gradually they have gone down till they see where they are, and the sorrow and shame they feel.

Oh, how they long to be reclaimed, but it seems they cannot get loose. I do not feel like pushing them down, but my heart goes out to help them. What good hearts they seem to have, and kind, when dealt with in love.

My prayer is, "Oh God, keep us steadfast, and all the shore lines cut loose, and fill and keep filled with fire, and zeal, and love, and the Holy Ghost, and anything that will compel us to take them by the hand, and plead with them to come to the fold and shine in the beautiful stream."

If a poor, weary, worn, heart-stricken, and sore backslider reads this, some who can look back to the time when they said, "I will be true Lord to Thee," just stop and think, and this to-day invites you to some home. Come away.

I once was a poor, miserable backslider, a real Christ-rejector, and oh, the years of intense agony and remorse of soul, never could make you understand, and the chains that bound me down, I do not think ever would have been broken. I prayed, but God came to the town I was in, filled with Divine love and power. It seemed I could see Jesus walking in them. But to-day I am breathing in the atmosphere of Jesus. What a change. It seemed such a step. But oh, when I ventured, the peace that Jesus gave unto me. Hallelujah. Lieut. MALTON.

FROM LISGAR STREET.

Major Spooner and myself spent a very enjoyable day at Lisgar street barracks on Sunday. God displayed His power in saving and sanctifying. Three cases for sanctification at the holiness meeting. One of them was a young lady who disobeyed the call of God, and would not go into the fight. They all got the blessing. Hallelujah. I was sorry to find some who acknowledged they were not right with God, and refused to get right. I pray that God will open up to them. Anyone who is wrong and want get right, is nothing more or less than a sinner. We had a grand time in Bellevue Hall, Sunday. We arrived on found the Arthur St. corps commanded by Adjt. Leonard when the united corps went in with all their heart.

Knee-drill and the holiness meetings were real good times to our souls. The D. O. spoke with great power, and so did Ensign Moore and Scribe Pearl and Capt. Andrews.

I heard a hotel-keeper say he liked the band well, and he wants them soon to come again and play outside his hotel. We closed the morning meeting with one soul. The afternoon and night meetings were glorious times, which shall not be forgotten very soon. At night, another soul came and found the Saviour. Hallelujah.

I can say that the Ingersoll brass band did good service. God bless the boys in my prayer.

On Monday afternoon, officers from surrounding corps, including Capts. Hunt and Grant from Woodstock; Capt. Walker and Lieutenant from Tilsonburg; Capt. Oder and Lieutenant from Otterville, came to help us.

In the afternoon, we had a holiness meeting, led by the D. O., and I can assure you that those who were there, felt God very near.

The night meeting was the crowning time, everybody seemed to go right in for God and souls. The music was of the traditional kind, and the lessons which were read by the D. O. seemed to take right hold of the crowd. Ensign Moore was very loud in their hearts as the D. O. was pleading with the people. It seemed very hard for them to give up their sins and wrong doing; but at last one came and then another, and so they kept coming, till six were in the mercy seat. I believe that God saved them, as they testify ever since. We then closed out with a glorious time for souls, and more determined to fight for God and take up our Cross daily.

FRIO ABEL.

FROM CENTRE STREET.

Since coming to Centre Street our hearts have been moved with love and compassion towards the people of this ward.

It is with gratitude to God that we continue to praise Him for having saved us to serve others.

God has already reclaimed two backsliders. They march, speak, sing, and pray. Glory to God. There is no room for dry bones in our ranks here.

While our calling from door to door the other day, I knocked at a door and was answered from the upstair window by a poor, besotted, drunken man. He asked me to come upstairs. I hesitated for a moment, scarcely knowing whether it would be wise to go or not. Suddenly he reminded the servant, by fetching a bottle of ink at me. Just then a woman more dirty and debauched, if possible, appeared at the window, so up the stairs I went, praying to my Father to help me. He did in a wonderful manner, enabled me to talk straight to those precious souls. The poor man wept bitterly and acknowledged the depth of sin and misery he was in, but he said he could not help himself. I knew he could not help himself, but Jesus could set him free. I sang and prayed with them and left them.

We called since to see them and found them sober and in their right mind, but we are praying and believing God will save many such cases. Amen.

We can depend on our soldiers. God bless them.

We are resting in the finished work of Jesus.

CAPT. MILLIGAN AND CADET BOWRON.

NORWICH'S SIXTH ANNIVERSARY.

For some week's past, there had been a great talk about our anniversary, and what a time the S. A. were going to have. At last, the time of our three days "go" came, and with it Ensign O. Sharp, Ensign Moore, Scribe Pearl, Capt. Andrews, and the "Ingersoll brass band."

As we marched on Saturday night, there was such a crowd of people and rigs, that it was almost impossible to get through. The holiness meeting went off with a swing. God was with us, although we did not see any results.

Sunday was a blessed day to our souls.

Read This from Cornwall.

During the last two weeks the Cornwall Corps has gone through, what to them, has been a wonderful experience.

When Capt. Thomas and Lieut Sale farewelled, two weeks ago, the corps was in hourly expectation of the new officers. However, they have not yet arrived. We were not long left alone until we made the discovery that we had been trusting too much to officers and too little in God to carry on the war. Consequently we felt like Samson when shorn of his hair. But thank God the enemy did not overcome us as they did Samson; for as soon as we made our mistake, we began a united cry up to God, for strength and wisdom to carry on the war in the absence of human leaders. Thank God that we felt our helplessness, that our emptiness was made so plain that all we could do was to cry to Him to fill us. Bless Him He did fill us, filled us to overflowing! The more we trusted the more God blessed and strengthened us, and the more we felt the blessing the more we trusted. It has been a time of drawing nearer to each other and of unitedly drawing nearer to God. The consequence is the two eight meetings have been a grand success. Souls have been saved, and the people of Cornwall have been convinced that the S.A. as represented here is fully alive and equipped for the battle.

God bless our new officers when they do come. We have resolved more than ever to hold up their hands and help them pull down and build up. J. R.

SUNDAY AT LIPPINCOTT.

ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY at Lippincott St. was a time of blessing and power. Several of the comrades from the Montreal Division belonging to the "Iconoclast" Band, headed by the splendid silk banner which was presented to the S.A. by the Mayor, Chief of Police and citizens of Cornwall in appreciation of the good work God had done through the S. A. were an attraction and God came upon the meeting in blessing and power. Many were deeply convicted, others were much helped in their souls, and one dear sister came weeping to the penitent-form and asked God to save her from all sin. We closed in the meeting feeling that God had used us to bless many souls and we give Him all the glory.

J. H. GLOVER, D. O.

PLEASURE SEEKERS.

Stop! Think! With eternity just before you, are you satisfied? Do you feel sure you are building on a good foundation, that which will stand the test when you appear before the Judgment seat of Christ, or are you, like the foolish, building on the sinking sands of wordly amusements? Oh! What a sifting time it will be, when every thing will be tried, and of what sort is it. Do not be deceived. God is not mocked, and "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." "For if ye sow to the flesh, ye shall of the flesh reap corruption, but if ye sow to the Spirit ye shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting." Now seeking the pleasures and amusements of this world, is not sowing to the Spirit, and therefore must be sowing to the flesh. What a terrible harvest you will reap, if you continue in sowing, as you are now doing. The life is far too short to spend the precious moments in such a trifling way. Can you ask God's blessing on what you are doing? or would you like to be called into eternity from the scene of your amusements? You do not know, the Lord may come for you in the midst of all your folly, and what would you do? Oh, how would you cast away those things you have slighted, and rejected in this life, the dear, loving Saviour who wishes to come into your heart and live and give you the true pleasure that your soul craves; the pleasures of sin are deceiving, you have nothing when it is past; but Jesus gives real joy and happiness, which will increase more and more as the days go by, and when eternity dawns upon you, the bliss will never, never end. Glory to Jesus forever! Yours living for the next world.

Shots From Fort St. John.

Carleton barracks opened with a swing on May 5th. Eastern headquarters' staff officers, and soldiers, from all parts of the city were present and a wonderful time was had.

Major Jacobs and Adjutant Cousins had a proper go in at St. Andrews and St. Stephens lately. They also visited Calais, Maine, for a meeting where God manifested Himself in a wonderful manner. Thousands souls for Salvation and holiness. Glory to God.

E. A. M.

Give to Jesus glory. Hallelujah. About 50 soldiers have been added to the roll during the month of August, and I am very pleased to note that the total on the roll in the Eastern Division for August is greater than any month during the last two years.

Before this reaches you about twenty stations will have changed officers. Being deeply interested in the soul-saving work I sincerely pray that each officer will be such a co-worker with God in their new station, that as a result many souls will be gloriously saved.

Eastern forces are prepared to give Commissioner and Staff a hearty welcome in the East again.

Major Jacobs is visiting Lawrencetown, Lunenburg and Liverpool this month and I expect in my next report to be able to give you a note or two of the war in those places.

Moncton District reports 87 prisoners and backsliders captured and 35 soldiers added to the roll during August.

Well, I declare! A wedding is fixed for Sept. 25th at the old Bowling Alley, St. John I corps. Who are the contracting parties? More anon. BANJO.

AUXILIARY NOTES.

Almost immediately on our arrival at Headquarters, the other afternoon, we were greeted with the joyful news that our energetic Auxiliary, Mr. H—, had been successful in obtaining two new members for our League, and during our absence he had called with their subscriptions. This was certainly a very substantial "chee-up," and we felt our hearts, cheered and encouraged for our afternoon's work, we went to our Auxiliary room. As the commencement of the work, trusting in His precious promise,—"If ye shall ask anything in My name I will do it;" we knowing that our Heavenly Father holds the keys of bounteous storehouses, and delights to shower gifts upon His children; we prayed for $35 before the close of the week.

And now it is Saturday afternoon and our prayer still seems unanswered (although we have certainly received the droppings of the promised shower).

There is a knock at the door, and we are pleased once more to welcome our friend Mr. H—; after thanking him for yesterday's pleasant surprise, he tells us of new victories he has won. Trusting in the Lord for strength and success, he had been soliciting in our behalf, others in our Army's work, and as a result had secured twenty new Auxiliary members. We only wish you could have seen our joy as he handed us that $25. And quickly the good news flew over the Temple, for of course our hearts were too full to keep it to ourselves.

And thus, already the Lord had sent us more than we asked, for truly He does for us "exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think." For during the afternoon our Auxiliary had pledged by receiving more subscriptions for His blessed work.

God has so much more in store for us than we claim. "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you." Do we realize the broadness of that promise?

We may unlock the Heavenly storehouse and claim, and receive. How much more successful our work would be, if, taking Christ at His word, we individually claimed these precious promises.

In order to obtain the blessings we must meet the conditions. We must be in Christ, our life hid with His in God; then His Holy Spirit prompts the requests, and Christ bestows the faith to claim the promised blessing; then we obtain the desire of our heart, and prove that "He is faithful that promised."

Before Mr. H— left he told us he was going in for 50 new Auxiliaries, so we supplicate Him in the shape of "All the World," and we earnestly pray that he may soon return with a full net.

Dear comrades, I do this article for you to more earnest effort in the extension of our League. If each S. A. A. would only form and carry out a similar resolution, how quickly our number of members would be increased, and how many of earth's sin-burdened ones would hear perhaps for the first time the "good tidings of great joy." People are so ignorant of our work, and of the motives which lead us to adopt such extraordinary methods, and as a result so much prejudice exists simply from want of knowledge.

God through the Army has blessed and helped you; will you not in return strive to increase the Army's usefulness, our work and thus assist in the glorious work of going out into the highways and hedges, and "compelling them to come in."

Welcomes and Adieus

AT MONTREAL

As we arrived in Montreal a right royal welcome to Staff-Capt. Simco from England was the order of the day. We have been there to represent the French Canadian work at the Great Crystal Palace Demonstration, and also to organize the work of this work, before our Leaders and the people. On Friday evening we all met together at No 17, to have a special cup of tea with our dear Staff, and Mrs. Simco, also little Ruth. It is needless to say there were cakes and fruit in abundance which we all seemed to enjoy very much, but best of all we felt it was good to be there where we enjoyed such a feast of Love, Fellowship and our dear Lord. We were all glad to see the "Band" come along to give us a lift and indeed they did very good service. The meeting commenced with the tune "Welcome Home" from the "Band" which was rendered very nicely. Since I last heard them play I can tell you, without flattery, that they have improved very much, God bless them. All seemed to enjoy the singing, judging from the way in which all joined in the chorus.

Testimonials were given to God's glory

From Hearts truly Changed

by the Grace of God and saved from the power of sin. Staff. Capt. gave an account of what he saw and heard while in England, which was very interesting, and Staff-Capt. Mrs. Simco read the "Word," the hall was filled with a very attentive audience, who seemed to drink in everything that was said. We feel sure God spoke to many in that meeting; also that the seed sown will bear fruit in hearts that shall be reaped bye-and-bye.

May God grant it, is our prayer. Along with the welcome to the Staff and all the rejoicing to night our hearts grow sad within us when we think of being also the "Farewell" of our beloved leaders, Staff-Capt. and Mrs. Simco. It is not without many heartfelt regrets that we meet together, knowing that it will be the last meeting and social that we shall have together for perhaps a long time. But as we look back and see how wonderfully God has blessed and helped these, our dear leaders, we can only say, we must thank Him for the past and pray that their future career, wherever it may be, will be blessed and crowned with the same success and that they may be used in bringing

Many Souls to His Feet.

Although we feel so keenly parting with our dear Staff-Capt. and Mother who has labored so faithfully amongst us, we know that our loss is their gain. Unfeigned tears, these matters, so we dare not murmur, but we are determined by God's grace to fight and push on the war cry cause sin and if we are true we shall all meet in Heaven.

ADJT. LENNOX.

The Quack Loses his Crowd.

PT. ELGIN.—After being away for some time as Sheffield Camp reunites, I returned home, having received many blessings while there. I found Lieut. and some men and soldiers hammering away at the devil. We have had rousing times this week. A holding free concerts on the streets and selling medicine for the body. Although we are so far from headquarters, Christian with us, and His Medicine cures the disease of the soul; so we got torches and 14 of us started a free concert a block away. See the crowd come; soon nearly all the people are around us; the doctor has to close; hundreds of people crowd around us; some yell, others help us to sing, others throw dust in the air, and so awful row in general is raised for about 30 minutes, and then we marched to the barracks where we had a powerful meeting and a big crowd. God given us one good case of conversion this week. The soldiers and recruits have stood their ground well, and many victories are in store for the 12th. The boys are sometimes a little rough, but they love the Army, and are willing to do or see a break among them.—Capt. ARTHUR SLOTE.

Lord, Send the Shower.

LISTOWEL.—Victory is coming. The droppings of a shower fell on Sunday, when we had a powerful meeting in the barracks—came back to the fold. There is a general seeking for more of the conquering power on the part of the Christians, and determination to have the Holy Ghost within, and the Calvary spirit filling every soul. We are bound to win.—Capt. and Mrs. WEBBY.

Saved Go-Ahead People.

WINGHAM.—I feel glad that it is victory every hour while living beath the smile of God. We are proving it every day. Our meetings are good, and sinners are coming to the Fountain, and God is putting things right. In Wingham corps there are soldiers who can be depended upon and helped in the battle waged for kingdom first. Pray that they may always be the same go-ahead, people, for God and souls.—Capt. S. SMITH.

Salvation or Damnation.

NEWMARKET.—We are glad to state that things are looking up here. The soldiers are getting fire, and the sinners' ings are picking up in numbers. God is working among us. The people are being woke up to the fact that it is either Salvation or damnation, so we are expecting victory.—E. WISEMAN.

Give Me the St Anphow.

BARRIE.—On sent on Sunday. Thursday, "old saints relice," Mr. and Mother Cameron and assisted by Daddy Moore. Had a good time. God have us a blessing. Mother Walker sang a solo and got the St. and says if anyone else will give her a dollar she will go to Toronto and sing it again. One lad under the influence of drink said, "I want to tell you what the Army has done for me. I was drunk, mi think, and I would like to be free from the power of drink." He has the pledge. the Lord.—Capt. WALKER.

Where He is Living.

AURORA.—We thank God for good meetings. Our crowds are getting better, and we believe God will do something more through us. Jesus is with us yet. He has done in the past. Souls are weeping over their sins. God bless you, my brother, and may God bless and prosper with God so as at once. I am living in the presence of God to glorify His dear name and see souls saved.—Capt. J. W. BLACK.

The Crust Broken Through.

COLLINGWOOD.—Praise God, we are alive here in this place. We have been careless in sending reports to the War Cry, (this is too bad.—Ed.) but bless God we have not been careless in the work of God. We have been fighting with all our might, and God does help us to gain the victory over the devil. The Lord is with us. We had a visit from our new D.O. Major Calhoun, and his scribe last week. We had a good time. Souls got saved and blessed. We are going to have victories here. We have broken through the crust, the devil has made his hold down God's people, which was a crust, careless spite. Praise God, things are looking better every day. We must stir up the old sort by the help of God.—Capt. ELLERY.

A Good Place to Live in.

BRACEBRIDGE.—Since last report we have had some blessed times in our corps, for we have had the joy of seeing fire precious souls weep their way to the footstool of mercy, where they found the blessed promise which says, "He will save to the uttermost all who come to Him." Some of our soldiers are getting into full uniform, which, backed up by the power of God, gives us a fine appearance for God. We are living in such a position as enables us to hear the commands of God, which, when obeyed, gives us joy of our Hi Salvation and brings about the extension of His Kingdom.—Capt. WILLIAMS and WIZE.

Quality as well as Quantity.

HUNTSVILLE.—Another week of victory. The devil raging. Another soul has come to Jesus. Glory! Good news from some have got sanctified. We are in for quality as well as quantity. Our King shall reign. Praise the Lord.—Captain D. G. H.

Hatched for the Devil.

"Do we praise God, from whom all blessings flow?" yes, we do. We must praise Him as we look and see those who have been saved by His wonderful power, from sin and its strongholds; yes, sin was destroying them, but Jesus has taken hold of our comrades experiences that they have found there is mercy in Jesus and pardon for all who will wash in the blood. We thank God for Two more who have come to the Mercy Seat since you heard from us last, and God is making them strong and more than a match against the evil one.—C. C.

Out of the Lock-up.

CALGARRY.—Victory is on our side this week. Hallelujah! Two more prisoners captured for our King. Two on Sunday night and two on Wednesday night. One (a very hard case) had been drinking and having a great spree just a day or so before and was in the lock-up; but when he came to the penitent-form he was perfectly sober and his eyes were wide open to the blackness of his heart and soul. Oh, how he wrestled and prayed to God to save him! He went home trusting and had his sins forgiven. He called on us the following day and his wife said there was a great change in him and she was so glad she did not know what to do. On Friday, we talked to them they were both affected and especially his wife who wept as I urged her to give her heart to God and be a true husband, she promised she would, and we are believing to see them both blood and Five souls and their home made happy. We mean to bring the people to God.

Just out of Jail.

VANCOUVER, B. C.—I was in Vancouver over Sunday and we had a real good time. Starting at knee-drill with our friends on Saturday night. The Lord was with us in power and although it was warm, crowds came to listen to the simple story and two souls came to Christ for burdened hearts and were set at liberty. Due had just come out of jail. Bless the Lamb forever! To God be all the glory.—THE SCOTCH LASSIE.

The Secret of Success.

CANIFTON.—This station has been without officers for some time, but praise God He has some soldiers here who don't backslide when the officers are away. Praise God, Christ, the Captain of their salvation is ever near. Last night was soldiers' collect, and a blessed time we had. God was in the midst and fulfilled His promises. Everyone said they had been blessed and their souls preserved good; it was a heart-searching time. We have found that the secret of success is to be dedicated from ourselves, and ourselves, and then God can use us. May He do so, to His own glory. Amen.—Capt. MCCREAGHAN.

BRIGHT, FIVE, FUNNY MAN.

ODESSA.—O what a Redeemer! Major Baugh and Capt. Ellery have been with us for Saturday, Sunday and Monday, also a big load of Sals, from Bath. Reison, the funny man, the Texas and the Western stone, the sword with the Spirit, were all sharpened up ready for the devil. Ye knee-drill was terror to the evil, also our local officers meeting. How God blessed our meeting, we can only say, spoke of their determination to do the whole will of God, and one especially who said that the past had for a few months been black and dark and she had lost her interest in the Lord, but God made her see clear when she either had to renounce Christ entirely or go in for blood and fire and as a wise person resolved for the blood, and praise God she is bearing fruit to that end. Our prayer is that God may keep the fire burning and help us to live in the centre of the fire. The Cadets and myself are saved all over. Hallelujah to the Lamb. Yours, over the hills.—Lieut. HOUSTON.

God can Save the Publicans.

ORANGEVILLE.—We are having blood and fire times here of late, and good crowds in the open air. The people are so kind. God bless you, Brigham. Last Saturday, one hotel-keeper, whom I had often asked to buy a "Cry," bought one, and the barmaid who had also been called at me before, smiled and said, "you have got the victory at last." Lord knock into the publicans hearts. Amen. Lieut. and the devil with a desperate hatred and am in for winning souls for God.—Lieut. T. WILLIAMS.

How They Enjoy It.

PROTON, DUNDALK, D. P.—Hallelujah! We are still marching on in the strength of our King. Since last report we have been having some good meetings. The people of Proton know how to enjoy Army meetings. If they were saved they would make good soldiers. Lieut. Bessington is a good soldier. Look out for next report for we are in for victory. Yours in the fight. Lieut. BESSINGTON.

The D. O. and His Wife Visit.

DUNDALK.—After waiting for some time, thank God I am to the front again, and feel like going in to win souls for God. On Thursday night we had Major Jacobs and Mrs. Marshall, also Lieut. Martin with us for a jubilee. We had a real good time and their crowd consisting the weather, which was not in our favor. Thank God we are getting along nicely and be laying for a smash in the devil's ranks before long. Capt. TILLIE BOYLE.

A Welcome to Two Drunks.

TORONTO, VIII.—"Labor has sure reward." Since our visit at early that has been hard to get the people into the barracks. Sinners seem to be afraid to believe in taking to empty seats. God sends attention in the open air. At Phoebe's night's meeting there was a fine crowd in attendance. Good meetings Sunday; farewell to our dear comrades, Major Jacobs. Principle streets we went into the barracks and had a good old time, free and easy. We had two new soldiers sing. At night we had a very impressive meeting. We forget our lesson of the day, Hallelujah! Two drunkards brought the land of Egypt and smote the first born amongst the Egyptians, and the Lord gave us our prayer. People unless they have the blood sprinkled over their hearts they can never enter Heaven. Two drunkards, the Lord knocked on some of their faces, but they would not yield. May God open their eyes before it is too late, is our prayer.

Lieut. J. HUNT.

Faith and Works Rewarded.

STRATFORD.—Yesterday we had a crowning time. We met at 7 a.m. for knee drill. Although we had been there large crowds came and filled our souls. The holiness meeting was a heart searching time. And in the afternoon we had Jesus, and God for souls, but no one yielded, so after the meeting we over we had a short prayer and consecration meeting. We met and find out the reason, and we all promised that we would wait upon God for twenty minutes, and we came to the night meeting in our own room, and God answered our prayer, for we had a blessed time, and God gave us twelve souls in the first-table. Bless God. Capt. DEAN.

What a Mighty Change!

LUNENBURG.—The soldiers and converts thank God for His keeping power, and when a short time ago some were smoking, swearing and having an occasional drink, since commencing to pray these have gone, and now we delight to march, sing, speak or pray. We are satisfied that living for God is the best.

Two Catholics Saved. God!

NEW GLASGOW.—Awake thou who sleepest and write a report for the Cry," is the command we hear from every quarter, so here goes. Well, we are greatly aroused to the interests of the Kingdom, and day by day our efforts are to extend it, and we have to be simple enough to rejoice that our efforts are not in vain, for there has been a few of late who have woke from their sleep of indifference and came to the Blood and got saved. There have been two Catholics saved recently and they are doing well. They march, sing, pray, and speak of the blessed power of God to save from sin. Religion is no longer a form or creed to them, but a living power which has changed their lives, and which enables them to live in obedience to the will of God. D.O. Bolton and "Si" have just paid us a visit which was much appreciated by the D.O. and myself for some time on the progress of the S.A., and also gave statistics which go to prove that we are marching forward. So we give God the glory and go forward.—Capt. MCLEAN.

Devil Vexed Saints.

WATERVILLE.—Although the fight seems hard in this place, still we are victorious over the enemy. As some people said the Army was making more devils than saints, we announced that would be the subject of our Thursday night's meeting. So with the testimonies from the soldiers, and the words of Jesus, we trust we made more cold or hot." the Spirit revealed that God had glorified all the way through, and that we could trust God's word, then we know we shall win.—H.B. & Co.

ST. MARYS.—Hallelujah. We are on the victory side. Praise God. "Lord of hosts is with us and the God of Jacob is our refuge". Our meetings all day Sunday were blessed. Major Jacobs walked two miles to kneedrill to be sanctified. He got what became for, also another got the "Second Blessing." Glory to God. D. O. McIntyre on Saturday and Sunday. He gave us some account of the Eastern Demonstration, also our own Division. Our soldiers' holiness and public meetings are good. God is with us.—Capt. HOAD.

CHATHAM.—Another change has taken place; another farewell gone through. We have said good bye to our dear Major Jacobs, Fort Falls, and have come on here full of faith for mighty victory. Hallelujah! Oh, Ye Backsliders.

BRANDON.—Through Christ, we are able to always triumph. During the past week, we have been proclaiming the truths of God to the souls that are within, the people visited, and what a blessed time we should be when speaking to them in the public meeting. In short, no officer in the Salvation Army can succeed in Manitoba either spiritually or financially, if he dodges out of the visiting. Doctor Cuyler's plan is to study his Bible in the morning, and study brass knockers in the afternoon. He says a visiting minister makes a church-going people. GUMSHOKER.

Three in the Fountain.

COURTICE.—God's Word says, "Thou wilt show me the path of life; in Thy presence is fulness of joy." That is what God has been helping me to do in our meeting meetings. One brother came to make a full surrender unto the Lord, and ONE for Salvation. Good meeting in the afternoon. At night, a soul-saving time, glory to Jesus. The fire has started at last, and our prayer is "O Lord keep it burning." The soldiers and Christians are going ahead; better times coming. Since last report, one backslider, one for a blessing, and THREE in the fountain.—Capt. F. STOCKTON.

No Lazy Folks Wanted.

BROOKLIN.—Praise God for His loving power. We are well prepared. Lots of work and hard fighting makes a good, fat soul. No time for others, and lazy folks are not wanted. After selling 14 miles in the country last Thursday with the WAR CRYS, and visiting the people, we were very selling 12 WAR CRYS, and telling three drunkards the story of the Cross in a Temperance Hotel, and people to buy the the WAR CRY, some accepted it, and others were glad to see us. The Great C. F. Demonstration.

RIDGETOWN.—I am very thankful to have the privilege of reporting through the columns of the old "War Cry" the of the victories achieved and advances made on the strongholds of Satan's territory. Glorious, Gospel truth, Friday, and a month's rest I feel somewhat refreshed in body, more especially in my own soul; so I am ready for the battle for the Master, the Lord, determined to do what we can for the people's salvation. In the past week we have visited two villages, kneeled their burdens at Jesus' feet. Oh, how willing he was to forgive and receive them. We have just enjoyed a day of Jubilee, D. O. McIntyre on Saturday and Sunday. He gave us some account of the Eastern Demonstration, also our own Division. Our soldiers' holiness and public meetings are good. God is with us.—Capt. HOAD.

Saved on Christ Can Be Saved.

NEWCASTLE.—Since last report, God has been with us, and His Spirit has been convincing men of sin. Adjutant Walker was with us for parading; he also had a beautiful meeting for the children and FOUR dear ones came to Christ. It was a time enjoyed by all. Yours to win.—G. M. ALLAN.

NEWBURGH.—Since our last report, God has been with us, and His Spirit has been convincing men of sin. Adjutant Walker was with us for parading; he also had a beautiful meeting for the children and FOUR dear ones came to Christ. It was a time enjoyed by all. Yours to win.—G. M. ALLAN.

VISITABILITY.

The Army has coined a few words and phrases since they commenced the great soul-saving work. Adjutant Walker is believing, "Keep saved," have done, and are still doing good work. Might we coin another word, "Visitability," the ability to visit. They had something to do with Methodism and the Army for more than twenty years, and the visitability, than through lack of eloquence or gift of song. Who ever knew a minister or captain to be a powerful visitor, but who was a success as a godly visitor? I never did.

Visiting secures sympathy. There is a lot in touching people in the face and grasping their hands. Visiting secures a congregation and audience. Visiting gives opportunity for finding out the particular circumstances, and the spiritual state of the people visited, and what a lever it should be when speaking to them in the public meeting. In short, no officer in the Salvation Army can succeed in Manitoba either spiritually or financially, if he dodges out of the visiting. Doctor Cuyler's plan is to study his Bible in the morning, and study brass knockers in the afternoon. He says a visiting minister makes a church-going people. GUMSHOKER.

The Great Harvest Home.

NEWCASTLE.—Yes everywhere around here something is reminded of the Great Harvest. The people seemed to be very much interested in the present harvest, working from early morning till very late at night, but we see very few who are interested in the great harvest that is coming and by. Many don't even thank the Giver for His goodness, but we are always ready to warn them of the day of judgment reaping time will come, yes, has begun already.—Capt. B. IVERACH.

Four Miles for Salvation.

CARBERRY.—Since last week. He walked four miles to get Salvation in our S. A. meeting. On getting what he came for, he returned home rejoicing in spirit, and feeling better able to fulfil his duties in the harvest-field, because the burden of sin was removed. Major Morris and his two sons, Lieut. Harry and Frank, were with us on Friday night. We had a good time, although their stay was short.—Lieut. ALICE GORDON.

Professors Abused, But—

CHATHAM, N. B.—We are truly in love with Jesus. We have met no more than usual of opposition, but it seems to be the last consideration in their life, that it nerves us on more than ever to be out with God and souls. Since the cool weather has commenced, our meetings have been picking up, and the old-time seeking and crowning back, but that is not the best, for last night, we were made to rejoice over 6 souls, 3 backsliders coming home and receiving a proper welcome. More to follow.—Capt. KIRKLE.

Very Short, But Very Good.

SPRING HILL MINES.—A mother blessed week spent with God. SIX souls and ONE backslider was the result. Hallelujah. Yours for God and souls.—Capt. J. S. MCLEAN.

Sinners Must Repent of Sin.

SACKVILLE, N. B.—" Come, come, everybody come." Thus the announcement was the special meeting on other night. The people turned out grand and we had a good time; hot, sharp testimonies, good singing, Gospel truth, prayer, and pleading with the sinner, and yet some went away undecided about being saved. Salvation. But we believe God's Spirit is striving mightily with the people. Again and again do we pray for souls, and we believe they have their hands up to be prayed for, and we believe before long we shall see many of them at Jesus' feet, yes, at their own feet themselves; and we know that Jesus said, "Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out."—ALEX. & ALICE.

Great Camp at Chesterville.

Stirring Time—Major and Mrs. Glover in Command—Good Results — Great Interest — Souls! Souls!! Souls!!! —Saved with one Leg — A Deluge of Water.

The camp ground is beautiful for situation, and it would fail my finite mind to give any adequate description of the magnificence of the place, within the variety of things that surround us, especially it being my first undertaking to report, with the exception of a meeting now and again. But some might be curious to know at least a few of the more prominent things which constitute our health-like surroundings, and for the benefit of those whose hearts are with us, and who would like to have been present, but could not, I will try with God's help and pen a few faints.

These differing in quality from each other, jotted here and there all over our camp ground; to the right, left and back, giving a forest-looking appearance, together with tents for officers, soldiers, and friends, which serve as an illum n tion.

As I sit in the midst of this ing use and stop to look out, there seems to fall upon my enraptured vision an which seems to draw my soul out after the Creator with a keener sense of his greatness.

Our big tent, in which we hold our meetings, stands in the centre, almost surrounded by another, where friends worship till night, almost incessantly, with a few intermissions, the praises of God resounds through wood and dale. Between Senior and Junior meetings there is no time lost, and the glorious news of God and the Lamb are wafted along, ascending up to the gates of heaven and passing through the celestial city, and the Throne, and in return we receive indescribable blessing as a people of the living God.

The general meeting was held in the open-air on Friday night, August 29th. As only a few were present in the putting up of the tent, it was impossible to get it up in time, but I was given to understand that nobody got killed with the exception of and was made alive in Christ at the close of the meeting. Everybody I believe kept neither in their seats through the bitter experience, yet sweetened by the love of Christ, which gave a relish of satisfaction to those engaged.

Saturday, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, was well spent in getting ready for the campaign in putting up tents, etc., until night, when we had a kind of an spiroinous meeting, led by the writer and assisted by a number of D.D's, yet mellowed by a blessed under current of Divine love, flowing from hearts in touch with God. Sunday morning rain, with frequent intermissions of abatement, kept on all day.

Sunday would have cast a gloomy shadow upon us, but Salvationists are never beaten, no matter the circumstances, and through God made the best of every thing. The rain kept the greater crowds away. A clearing up for the evening meeting. But where can you put a true Salvationist that they won't have a good time? So accordingly in this case "the wilderness did bud and blossom as a rose," and the place was cheered up with real Salvation melody, and best of all souls were blessed and convicted, as the day closed with an animated feeling of gratitude to God for His blessings.

Monday's meetings were glorious. We had more favorable weather, as the stormy element cleared away and the sun began to shine.

Knee-drill was a time, when we feasted sumptuously upon the bounties of full Salvation; when we got a bumping, filling blessing. The meeting was led by Capt. Morris, assisted by

Then came the holiness meeting, led by Capt. Brewer, when Major Glover read to us a very spicy portion from the Word, which enlisted the attention and won the hearts of those present to Jesus, and as a result

Three Sought and Found Christ.

God gets all the glory. One of these converts, who had not as much wisdom seemingly as the others, prayed in her own original manner, and I felt pleased with God o bless her soldiers. "O Lord, bless my captain, and O Lord Thou knowest You told Maggie when the Army came to Winchester to join them, and O Lord, You know that Maggie joined them."

The night meeting was an enjoyable one, and one prisoner was set free, and I believe a great many had their hearts pretty well cleared out of sin.

I heard somebody cry out in a text, "Lord bless the silly." Thank God Salvation makes us silly enough to serve Him.

Tuesday's meetings; for these everything was bright and clear, assuring us a day of real victory, and although the looked for results were not as great as we realized, yet tears were shed and souls up in their experience, for from knee-drill to Officers' Council and on through the afternoon holiness meeting, God's presence was manifest in such a measure as to let us rejoice with joy unspeakable and very full of glory.

As my time is limited, I cannot give as full a description as I would do justice to the reporting of these meetings.

Elsewhere you will find notes under the heading "Camp Meeting Notes."

Up to the present some ten souls (some I have not yet saved. One was found dancing after he went home from the night meeting. A backslider from A—— was present and got reconvicted of his sins as he lay on some clothing under the shadow of a tree rolling and tossing in a state of agony, resisting the Spirit of God.

What a Pitiable Scene

How sad! The Major was doing his best for his physical, and spiritual welfare, by applying some electric oil on his feverish brow, at the same time dealing with him about his soul. He left the ground unsaved.

Wednesday was rich with blessing throughout, and great good was done. The Scripture says, "A wayfaring man, though a fool, need not err therein." Well there was a wayfaring man in some part of this time who was touched with this spirit; as well as being spiritual, she was amazingly comical, and I felt well satisfied as one of officers for some time while preaching from a text, I felt a wonderful power upon me, mounted and expressed her desire to be a Staff-Captain.

On Thursday, we commenced by knee-drill at 7 a.m., which was a deep spiritual time, when the presence and power of God was felt and souls were blessed and convicted, and even by those who were in bed, for they caught the breeze and partook heartily of the spiritual satisfaction of the "Bread of Life," which was broken liberally.

This meeting seemed to uncap the treasury of God, and let down the flowing and enriching stream of blessing.

In the officers council afterwards led by Mrs. Major Glover and the Ensign, Major Bigsby absent on other important S. O. business. Ensign read from Matt. v., some heart-searching truths, and dwelling more particularly upon, "Ye are the salt of the earth, but if the salt has lost its savor, wherewith shall it be salted? it is therefore good for nothing but to be cast out and trodden under the feet of men." I thought how appropriate those words were to us as officers of the great S. A. The danger of our being cast out because of saltless and so becoming castaways. Ensign illustrated to us how, by the grace of God, we can preserve our savor, and how we, like Moses keep God from pouring out His wrath upon the guilty Israelites, intercedes for the saltless; these but so true Salvationists having saltness in themselves do and from being destroyed by the fury, indignation of God? We had indeed in this meeting a profitable soul-inspiring time, which effectually substantiated our Christian bearings and sent us forward, more strongly fortified with Divine power to help Christ and gladden His heart by our earnestness in helping to lift up downtrodden humanity. God help us.

The subject of the afternoon holiness meeting led by Mrs. Major Glover was "The Fruits of Entire Sanctification." This was taken up by her and dealt with ably, enforcing emphatically the necessity of living in order to bear the right kind of fruit, to ensure a happy life and retain the continued favor of God. She remarked, "I sometimes feel discouraged when I have no money in my pocket, but having this blessing, I am rich, and it helps me to hold up my head." The devil would not come to me and tell me or put feathers on my hat (or bonnet), for he knows it would be no use. But he knows I have weaknesses at points, he comes up here; therefore the need of watching and praying—every besetting sin—cutting trade—must be crucified. The Bible, fruit of the Spirit differs, for it is love, joy, peace from a pure heart." Some extracts from Ephesians v. "It need to be a Cross to speak to anybody about their soul, but since I received the blessing of holiness, it is a delight. Christ has an in possession of it. I don't try to be anybody else. I am myself, and I don't believe in formality. I pray to God and not man, and I get blessed." So said a successful church-member.

The night meeting, led by the Ensign, was one of those mixed, medley ones, full of life and Salvationism, which aroused and awakened interest and conviction. The comical manoeuvres that went through in his part brought a gale of laughter from all directions in the camp, which more than dispelled monotony. While the singing of "Drum, drum" took the place by storm. Likewise the people sorrowed and rejoiced, the tears flowed, the laughs and shouts of joy intervened with the beating of timbrels and clapping of hands, together with a solo now and then, came down with prepondorous effect upon all present, and solicited the hearty co-operation of singing talent. Was it any wonder then that the people looked on with astonishment, no doubt wishing in their hearts that they had the joy we had? So far, this proved to be one of the most blessed meetings of the camp, for not only did the saint rejoice, but I believe that there was an intermingling of joy "from the presence of the angels." "And righteousness and peace kissed each other."

The fervor of ringing volleys that rent the air from sanctified hearts, told a tale, together with unbelievable work done, that God was honoring us by His presence, which awakened a kind of an angry conviction in the hearts of the ungodly.

Friday meetings, there was floods of light and waves of power from morning knee-drill, until the close at night. The night we took prisoner

Capt. PAYNE.

Farewell of the French D.O's.

How shall I describe to you the last French Council we were to have together? Tuesday morning we received a farewell order, we had that kind of presentiment that the coming meetings were to be of an important character, and we felt that it was every nerve in order to re-assemble all the officers working on the French field, to discuss fully the development of some new schemes for the advancement of the war. We were therefore all the more determined to be present, and receive news of an immediate farewell, and although money was very scarce, and as usual the demand was greater than the supply, yet by dint of saving every available cent we managed to procure second class single tickets, trusting that the Lord would provide us the rest of the journey. And He did provide in a most unexpected way. Very soon we found we had not sufficient to pay for the transport of our baggage to the quarters, and consequently we asked an "All the World" to a gentleman at our hotel, who offered us a quarter for its purchase; then we at once started off to make friends, and came back

Enriched with Fifteen Cents,

so you see we were able to pay cabby the two cents he made, although we had not a cent in our pocket. We then felt that we wanted to tell you about that Council. It was yesterday morning when we all gathered at the Divisional quarters, to wait upon God. Oh! how divinely near He came to us, and how the Spirit poured out upon us the solemn and hallowing influences of His Spirit melting our hearts in loving adoration, and we felt constrained to cast our crowns at His feet, for it is love, joy, peace from a pure heart." Some extracts from Ephesians v. "It need to be a Cross to speak to anybody about their soul, but since I received the blessing of holiness, it is a delight. Christ has an in possession of it. THE DEVIL RAMPANT

IN THE "QUEEN CITY."

Notwithstanding the illuminated plaster of the whole country, we feel we should announce the theatre, the dance hall and the dime museum, one look at the thousands who crowd the streets and the different churches on a Sunday morning tends at once to impress the onlooker and passer-by that Toronto is not only the "city of churches," but that it is indeed the model city of the Dominion. But how little they know of the Devil's work in Toronto, for when the mask is torn off, and when the issue forth from their dark hiding places to poison, allure and eternally damn the souls of all who come within their reach.

What! is it possible that within this our "city of churches," where the front door of the saloon is closed on Sunday, and where the street cars do not run, and where the tabernacles of the Most High are thronged with men and women who carry the Bible under their arm, is it possible that in our midst dwell such abodes of wickedness? Yes, reader, and they are in abundance.

"Twas about 2.30 in the morning, the city was resounding in slumber, the church door is locked and the Salvation Army have closed their meeting. All is quiet (?). Now is the Devil's Reaping Time.

Hell is most alive at midnight, and from the various dens of vice and iniquity pour the teeming multitude of deluded souls, who, having sinned with the Devil, have chosen the darkness rather than light.

My sleep is sound; but the tramp of approaching feet, about 3 with an outrage wheels causes me to start from my slumber, and, half wondering and half fearing, I hear the patter of feet, as they directly under my window; a moment more and two fine young men are left standing in the middle of the road under the pale shade of the moon, which shone full upon them, and I could see at once that, though clad in evening dress and wearing a respectable look, both are under the influence of the Devil. I know where they had spent the dark midnight hours. Soon onslts are vented up on the side of a house in the direction of Spiny Street, and the

of two young men, who, in the course of a half hour, I heard, in the middle of the road, under the window, the sad story of her sorrows, and the cause of her broken heart. Yes, and the cause of instruction an through and complete, that the officers at the close, returned to their various spheres of labor, fully equipped to render the most efficient aid to their D.O's., by relieving them, for various periods of heavy responsibilities, and leaving them free to give their undivided attention to the spiritual needs of their divisions.

The necessity of this arrangement has brought home to us, how the spiritual work has suffered much in consequence; but the hour has come, and the end has been accomplished, and the Salvation Army will, henceforth, be looked upon, both by officers and soldiers, as the spiritual guard of the division and its neighbourhood, and consequently sought after. The Divisional Secretary, too, will be a new and important factor in the work of the division, the work of the division, but he will also be free as various times to strengthen the D.O's., thanks to the arrangement, the interface of Divisional officers will, therefore, naturally spring up from this—an order for business and a special adaptability for spiritual work.

During my recent furlough I rested on a seat with the idea of enjoying the silence that is characteristic of an Englishman. A Yankee came and sat down, and read a newspaper near alongside. He broke the silence as follows:—

"I was glad to see from the "War Cry," which I always take in, that the Prime Minister of Queensland, who could not attend a meeting of the Sleeper down, and said, sent his carriage to escort one of your principal officers." I suggested his resignation, and some of the great people in sympathy the members of the Australian Legislature had vied with each other in giving help to our young world in the Antipodes. He continued:—"I am a low churchman, abominate incense, wax candles and all that kind of thing, but I am not bigoted. I want to see our ministers imitate your leaders who live and visit in the Slums." He waxed so eloquent that I would have liked to have taken down his speech; but I so thoroughly liked his wind up that I have presented it. He said:—"I tell you what, Sir, if your General follows up the course he has taken, and the Institute as he is doing, he will win and conquer the whole world. He must do it. Nothing good we have, and we need, and Christ-like religion, without a particle of the Conservatism which has always cursed and ground down the poor." He convinced me so thoroughly, that this was quite possible, that I got his promise to give our good-sleepers an order for fresh wood. This, therefore, was another addition to the ranks of the church militant.

Yours, etc.

Major Barritt is not likely to let any weeds grow in his garden, or any moss under his feet. He had not been in his business when he landed for a few hours at Rio de Janeiro, for I see he called on and had a review of the Salvation Army of the Brazilian Republic, who received him cordially and expressed his sympathy with the Salvation Army and its work. Brazil is a populous country and an immense territory, and Major Barritt remarks that it is perfectly ripe for immediate attack by our forces.

I have never before referred to Finland, this brave little nation in the extreme north of Europe, bristling with brave and loyal hearts, under the rule of the Czar of Russia; but I have thought of them and not forgotten them in their isolation from the joys of comradeship, as he has sent the brave little Finns the Bandmaster's gift, one of his favorite musical instruments—the big drum. When the drummer was sworn in and received his instrument, I am told his eyes glistened through the moisture of the tears of gratitude that would not be kept back.

Miss Booth's visit to Sweden has fallen in the prepared ground, Independent Sweden which have failed utterly, inasmuch as they fell short of the record of superseded Salvationists, which attended and followed her labours for God. Scandinavia is, undoubtedly, God's great battle-ground for spiritual work. The Swedes, the Scandinavians of the cold, phlegmatic temperament of the natives of northern climes in general, are not to be won with ease, but they are satisfied, the sun rises, the harvester goes forth, the fruit, the sparks, and everything icy is transformed into spicy breezes, verdant plains, and genial and glorious Summer-tide. This was especially the case, even in connection with Miss Booth's visit. The "War Cry" has detailed the wonderful work which God honoured His handmaiden; but what strikes me most is the unwillingness of the people to part with the Field Commissioner, which they did not do without a promise to let her return, God willing, at the commencement of the coming year. All Glory to Sweden's God for the wonderful victories He has wrought in the land where the Northern Lights shine at their best and the heavenly constellations are seen at their brightest.

It is most appropriate, according to the "eternal fitness of things," that Norway should follow Sweden. Major and Mrs. Ole Olsphant are just about as much at home in Norway as they would be anywhere else. Spiritual inventions, wonderful outpourings of the Spirit, and a real hallelujah time all round, perhaps bee express time is the accompaniment of portions, it should not be at all surprised to see the Major turn up in Iceland, which must be in his hand, at any moment, Summer. By the by, Norway is all ablaze. Five new towns will be opened by the time this letter is despatched. I see a Norwegian "Appleby" (bandmaster) has come to the front, who plays, sings, composes, preaches and can write musical shorthand as quickly as a piece is played. I am glad to hear that Major and Mrs. Olsphant are so successful in leading in health as a result of their northern Salvation tour. God bless them more and more.

Listen to this, you close-fisted, hard-hearted money-grubbers! Major Barritt once more, how landed proprietors in Australia set you an example. "Mrs. Barritt has built a Home for Girls, and other buildings with implements, stock etc. We are giving her 20 per cent. of the profits after all expenses are paid. This is perfectly satisfactory," writes Commissioner Coombs, "and secures her an annuity for life."

The Winter Campaign is now in front of us, with such opportunities for a grand harvest of souls as we have never before experienced. The Army's been ideal has always been a sweeper down, and in this respect God has so abundantly opened the way by re-baptising the General and calling Major Barritt to lead the Army in the people hold in the steel bonds of a stronger tyrant than Pharaoh, that the Israelites were in going forward in literally going backward, and picking up the thread of sacred history where the Blessed Master seems to have dropped it when He left the multitudes for whom He had compassion and ascended to lead captivity captive and give greater gifts to men. In this direction the General's heart has been constrained "and moved with compassion" towards these drageless hungry and soulless multitudes for whom Jesus lived, died, suffered and Died.

LONDON WEEKLY LETTER.

No. 19.

(BY OUR INTERNATIONAL WAR CORRESPONDENT.)

MY DEAR COMRADES.—The self-denial week is almost upon us. A sum of £20,000 was raised as the result of the united efforts of the whole Army last year; but so far as the countries outside of England are concerned, they stood under disadvantages, which, to a large extent, no longer exist, and it may be safely predicted, that as the result of the experience gained and the advantages of the Council at the recent International Staff Council, there will be such an outburst of self-denial on the part of the people everywhere, as has not yet been exhibited. Many eyes in England are looking to . . . to come to the front. I expect to be in my next letter able to give a forecast upon the manner in which the machinery for the self-denial service is being worked, meanwhile I am sanguine, as usual, of unparalleled success.

One of the best and most efficient measures in connection with our military mode of government, was introduced last week, which, beyond all doubt, is destined to allow the native genius of the soldiery in management of the whole Army. I allude to the appointment of Staff-Captains as Secretaries, who to the number of 70, attended ten days at the Congress hall for the purpose of receiving a special course of business instructions, blended with spiritual exercises. It was such a pleasant and instructive time, that I felt, and the course of instruction so through and complete, that the officers at the close, returned to their various spheres of labor, fully equipped to render the most efficient aid to their D.O's., by relieving them, for various periods of heavy responsibilities, and leaving them free to give their undivided attention to the spiritual needs of their divisions.

Erie and St. Clair Lines.

Among the Indians—The Penitent-Pole — Some Funny Names — The White Beggar.

The Scribe and I had a meeting on the Indian Reserve among our red-skinned brothers and sisters. We took the train to Bothwell and a brother took us in to Moravistown on a wagon. Capt. Wynn and Mrs. Capt. Trott accompanied us from Ft. It was a camp meeting, or rather a bush meeting. The seats were planks and were placed under the lovely green trees, to which torches were fastened.

The penitent-form was a pole placed upon sticks which were driven into the ground. The Scribe and Capt. W. called it the "penitent-pole."

Many Indians were there from Walpole Island and Muncytown (I think that's it) and were "camping out" in tents (we suppose I should say camps) made of green boughs. One canvas tent was up in case of rain, so that the people could run in for shelter. The sight was quite novel. There is a brass band here. And they use the S.A. tune book. Those players of a band who are saved (it is the town band) played, and we marched round the grounds.

This looks as though they all love the Salvation Army.

When Bro. Noah wanted to call them together for the march, he blew a shrill bugle. It made a good big noise. I can tell you.

A Bro. gentleman (white) who was leading the meetings for they had 3 days meetings and we went down for the Saturday night and Sunday, was a big hundred, most of the time, asked for the collection, and did it beautifully, an old S. A. officer could not have done better. Nobody could very well refuse.

He also spoke in the meeting, and his words had the right ring. Hallelujah!

The Indians mostly spoke in their own language. Although we could understand one word we enjoyed it, for the earnest expression on the face told as much as any one could wish.

We did our very best for them, but could not persuade anyone to "come from evil and be free."

The meeting got well warmed up towards the last and they went in with all their soul in the proceedings. We had no need to say, "Now, all rake hold," for they had done so before we had time to look round. All were in the rake and in their own language, and we all went fishing in the audience.

Our Indian brother drove us back to Bothwell after the meeting. The night was very cold and we had to stop at the hotel to keep warm. We landed safe in B. and pray God to bless His work in M. and B.

We marched around the barracks and spent a real nice time, we enjoyed it if others did not. We also enjoyed a well day Sunday, but the truth was put before them. I spent a fair day and trust Wynn shall get win the place for God.

I had a meeting with my Chatham comrades and I was glad to welcome the plucky little Mac to the Division. The Captain has an old name (McNamara) and the Lieut. is a chip of the old block. Success to you girls, nay God own your labors.

By-the-way, Bro. Editor, we have some funny names in our Division—Two Sewers who will show the devil that he can't scare them; a Lieut. who is a Bell of the truth; a Lieut who has a Will of his own; a Lieut. who has been made a Fisher of men;" a Lieut. who Drove night unto the Lord while He was to be found; and we have just got a Lieut. who is Ever in her ways in season; and a Bear that has resisted all the efforts of the devil to pick the flesh off her. I almost forgot to tell you we have a Wiseman who is warning the people of Newbury.

MRS. MCINTYRE.

D. O. SOUTHALL.

A Good Week. Hallelujah!

HAMILTON I.—Four sinners, five backsliders, and three for full Salvation have been the results of this week's fighting. Christ shall reign.—Capt. Miller.

The Secretary Hard at It.

WATERDOWN.—Although we are left for a short time without officers, we are very thankful that we have Jesus Christ, the Captain of our Salvation, with us leading us on to victory. On Sunday we had marches and meetings as usual, and although we did not see anyone saved, yet, thank God, He blessed us in our own souls abundantly, and we went home at night feeling that we had said and done all we could for the sinners in Waterdown. We leave the results with God.—Secretary Willis.

A Good Week's Work.

BRANTFORD.—Our hearts rejoice this morning because we are having victory not only in our own souls but also in our work. Last week was a time of victory. On Friday night two men came to Jesus, also one young woman; all giving a real clear testimony that God had accepted them into the fold. On Saturday another soul who had been as blind to God's word, but now could see that Jesus died to purchase life for her, laid hold of the promise. On Sunday meetings were good all day, and at the close of the evening meeting two more souls sought and found Christ, making six for the week. To God be all the glory.—Capt. Fisher.

An Old Battle-Ground Revisited.

DUNDAS.—Snatching a few days from our daily routine of office work at Headquarters, we decide to visit an old battleground. A pleasant trip on the boat soon brings us to Hamilton, whence the "dummy" makes a speedy journey to Dundas. Here we are met by Capt. Hodge and his little daughter and conducted to the quarters, where we were glad to meet Mrs. Hodge. The meeting with old friends seemed to bring to mind scenes in S.A. warfare, hitherto almost forgotten. After a lengthy conversation and some refreshments, we learn from the Captain that he has no intention that our visit should be a rest, and so for an hour of work we could make it such, so obediently we prepare for meeting. As we march down Main Street and take our stand upon the market place for the open-air, our initiation into the mysteries of S.A. warfare was forcibly brought to our mind, and we could thank God that we were still His. Our meetings all day on Sunday were good, both in the open-air and in the barracks, and the dear Lord honored our labors with one soul for the Kingdom. We closed on Sunday night feeling the time had been well spent for Jesus. We left Dundas with a hearty invitation from Capt. Hodge to come again when we needed a rest. God bless Dundas.—L.M.S.

One Can Always Look Up.

MILTON.—Thank God, this morning though the fight seems hard and severe, yet He is helping us, and as dear Commissioner said in council, "If we couldn't look around, we would always look up." It seemed nice to be home in Hamilton once more, and we felt glad to be back. We worked hard and earnestly yesterday, and at night one lad ventured out and professed to find Salvation. May God keep him true.

"When in the battle's blazing heat,
When flesh and blood would fail,
We will fight on and still repeat,
"Jesus, Thou canst not fail."

Capt. Pearson.

One of our Enemies Saved.

PORT ERIE.—"Oh, yes, it's getting better." Why? "Because we see more than ever the wonderful works of God." One man who has been an enemy of the Salvation Army got saved last Sunday night and marched with us around the hall two or three times, and said he intended to become a soldier. God bless him.—J. Bailey.

No Starving Out Here.

PORT ROWAN.—We have been fighting away with all our might to destroy sin. Bro. Sons has just returned home from sailing, and has as much fire as ever. The Lord gave him victory while on the lakes. We had a glorious pledge of visiting the lighthouse keeper last week. They were glad to see us come. Another brother has given us a bag of potatoes, so the devil is not going to starve us out yet awhile. Not only are we feeding on good temporal food, but we are also feeding on the Bread of Life, and getting fat in our souls. This place has been known as a hard shop in the past, but the Lord has been making the wilderness and the solitary places glad, and the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose. "Cry out and shout thou inhabitant of Port Rowan, for great is the Holy One of Israel in the midst of thee." So says the Lieut.—W. T. Evoy.

Soldiers all on Fire.

GEORGETOWN.—Yesterday was our first Sunday here. We've hardly got accustomed to the people yet, but we soon shall, and we're going to do our best. God helping us, to get the people acquainted with Jesus. The soldiers are all on fire for God: the marches are grand, and round the open-air ring the people gather in crowds and listen very attentively to what is being said. We are praying and believing that the Spirit of God will so take hold of them that ere long they will be found crying to God for mercy.—Capt. A. Coggins.

Looking Through a Whiskey Barrel.

NIAGARA FALLS.—We have just taken charge here after nearly three months' rest, and now we are busy in the fight once more. We have had some blessed opening ups and inside meetings, in which wonderful manifestations of God's Spirit have been felt. Long Jim, a converted drunkard of five months' standing, is still saved and quite a warrior for God. He told the people in his testimony that he can see through the whiskey barrel now since God saved him and opened his eyes. We finished our first week-end here with one precious soul, and two prodigals came home once more. All to be to Jesus. Pray for us.—Capt. and Mrs. Ireland.

God Bless the Bandsmen.

OAKVILLE.—The war against sin, the flesh and the devil is still steadily going on in this place, although as yet we have not seen any very great victories still we believe our King will conquer. The Staff Brass Band was with us on Saturday night and all day Sunday. We had blessed meetings, and the Holy Spirit did His work of convicting sinners as one after another told of God's dealings with them. God bless the bandsmen. We need more others are hoping for another visit from them before long.—Wait & Furniss.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S FIVE.

MAJOR SCOTT.

Four Saved Out of Six.

BAY ROBERTS.—The Army is going up here now. God is blessing us with many souls. Wednesday night there were four souls saved once in the meeting, four of them came to the feet of Jesus and found pardon through the blood. On Thursday night the meeting was led by two of the soldiers; it was good to be there. On Friday night the meeting was led by three for holiness of heart, and they found that Jesus cleansed them from all sin. On Sunday we had grand meetings all through the day. At night there were two souls saved. Praise God holy living shall win the day for God.—Cadet F. Day.

Seven Seekers for Holiness.

LITTLE BAY.—During the past fortnight we have taken four prisoners for God, and three wanderers have been reclaimed. Last Tuesday night in our solitude we had a very blessed time. Seven of the comrades were out seeking the blessing of a clean heart. The power of God fell and the meeting was unusual. This makes ten out for cleansing since last report. With clean-hearted soldiers we shall win souls. Day for our King. We are in for victory Captain A. E. Fay.

Brave Gallant Soldiers.

BIRD ISLAND COVE.—Since coming here we have seen some things to encourage us. We previous to our coming here, our and our soldiers who love to sing, "Victory for me through the blood of Christ my Saviour." Some people have been trying to discourage them by saying they may as well give up. There would never be any more offenders, as there have been any here for six months, but they have worked among themselves, and have a new barrack shunts completed. It has small place, but there's a big devil to fight. Our God is almighty and we march on in His strength, believing victory will come in the future. Lieut. E. French.

Keep up Your Courage Lieut.

WESTERN HEAD.—We cannot rejoice over any souls being saved yet. We are holding on to God for the outpouring of His mighty power. The work of late has been up hill, but we'll soon get to the top, for our cry is "Victory through Jesus our Lord." Although there are lots of souls who see their need of being saved, yet they are not yet seeking to be saved. We believe God will soon get the victory. Lieut. Goody.

Eight Seeking Sinners.

TWILLINGATE.—Glory to God we are having a good times here now. Since you last heard from us we have had some rising 12 souls, and eight seekers for the Salvation at our penitent-form, more convicted. We are believing for greater victories in the future. Hallelujah!

Capt. J. S. Bowman.

Montreal Forwards Seven.

MAJOR GLOVER.

Five Teams Come to their Help.

WATERLOO.—We didn't shun just because the Captain told us to," said a brother, "there was something in those volleys." Well, I think that is just the truth in a nutshell; twas not a hollow sound, but the glory made us shout. The devil had suggested that we might have to walk to our outpost on Sunday, but when the time came, five teams might have been seen on the road all bound for the outpost. A good crowd gathered for meeting. Was it a good meeting? I heard one brother say that he never attended a better. What happened to make it so good? Why, the Lord directed us to read these words, "Cry aloud, spare not, shew unto my people their sins," and then He poured out His Spirit and sent the Word home to each heart. Then the testimonies—some thanked God for fresh light right in that meeting; some acknowledged that they had had revealed to them some shortcomings, and with tears in their eyes promised to do right in future. A brother from Cornwall, Ont., told how after about fifty years of sin and not going to church for fourteen years, he was attracted by a S.A. open-air one night, and both he and his wife were saved. Any souls? Yes, one man 60 years old, and a girl about 16. Another in the afternoon at Waterloo, making two backsliders and one prisoner since last report. We're getting very long, but Bro. a brother walked nine miles to knee-drill last Sunday.—Jos. Parker, Capt.

[Good, Captain, send more.—Ed.]

A very kind Hotel-keeper.

RENFREW.—We can still report victory through the blood of Christ. We have had with us Adjt. Manton, who did us good service; we will be glad to have him come again. Sunday was a blessed day. Two comrades came 22 miles for knee-drill. One dear sister came to Jesus in the afternoon and a brother at night. In our open-air at one hotel the proprietor kept perfect order during our meeting. "God bless and save him," is our prayer. The people are very kind, and altogether we have lots to praise God for.—Capt. O'Grey.

The Adjt. Wakes Things up.

PEMBROKE.—Weare having good times here this summer. Although the weather is very hot it does not keep the soldiers and people from coming. We have been rewarded for our faith and hope by seeing souls saved, during the past three months 28 souls professed to be saved, quite a number of these at the outpost. We have had three days' meeting the past week, Adjt. Manton spent Saturday and Sunday with us; we had a wonderful time. Sometimes the people laughed, and the next moment tears were running down their cheeks. Sunday afternoon the Adjt. spoke with power, and also three saved Commercial Traveller. There was scarcely a dry eye in the place, and I believe the results of those meetings will be made eternal by God. We enjoyed your visit, Adjt., and trust the time is not far distant when you shall give us another visit.—Captain J. J. Lindsay.

Soldiers held the Reins.

KEMPTVILLE.—We have had some experience of "going in" alone for God and souls since the Camp meetings began. God wonderfully helped and strengthened us. Twas out on the opening with sold a number of "War Crys," which was the means of blessing to many souls, and of letters to others also. There is still hope for the people of Kemptville to get saved, for in leading up to the Camp we had some about a thousand, and a small one a strong nation: the Lord will hasten it in Mine own time. We believe the soldiers will be faithful and sow beside all waters, God will win if we trust in Jehovah. Glory to God! Hallelujah!—Harvey Banks.

God will reward your Labours.

COOKSTOWN.—We mean victory or death in Coatsicoke. Bless God we have a few blood-and-fire soldiers. God has promised us the souls and throne, so we are going to live for God and souls. Hallelujah! The people are real good to us; God bless them. Our meetings are crowds small, but God is convicting them of sin. We are believing to see souls saved. Hallelujah! Glory to God! God will bring the victory.—Lieut. Mulcahy, for Capt. Stoneman.

Something to Rejoice about.

CARLTON PLACE.—Which means "War Cry" selling an old man said "Oh, yes, I'll take one; here's the five cents," meaning "I wouldn't have taken that, only I heard you last night in the open-air, and it did me good." That's our business on this occasion, "Victory through Jesus our Lord." Although there are lots of souls who see their need of being saved, yet they are not yet seeking to be saved. God will soon get the victory. Lieut. Goody.

Eight Seeking Sinners.

TWILLINGATE.—Glory to God we are having a good times here now. Since you last heard from us we have had some rising 12 souls, and eight seekers for the Salvation at our penitent-form, more convicted. We are believing for greater victories in the future. Hallelujah!

Capt. J. S. Bowman.

ST. JOHN'S STIRRING SEVEN.

MAJOR JACOBS.

Oh Lord, Send the Smash!

YARMOUTH.—"Steadily, forward march" is our motto. Yesterday morning that we are having good meetings. One out for cleansing last night. Lots of conviction in our meetings. Waiting for a smash in the devil's camp soon. Lord hasten the day.—Capt. Holman.

The Cadet's First Report.

ST. JOHN II.—As this is my first report, I hardly know how to begin, but I am going to do my best to tell you how we are getting along in Indiantown. "Hallelujah!" Yesterday was a day of victory. Hallelujah. We are having the victory here in many ways. We have had some large meetings, and the best of all, Jesus is making His arm bare by saving souls. Yesterday we had Salvation the week, and some more after the conviction, but will not yield. We are telling them like a Dr. Tanner, "Come and come back, and praying that they will yield before too late. Yours living for souls.—Cadet Carey.

Oh to be Over Yonder.

ST. JOHN V.—Victory is ours, in War Cry selling, visiting, and best of all, capturing THREE prisoners and giving them to Jesus. Sunday night we had a Singing and on Thursday we had with us Mr. Mother (Adjt. Birdie). We were very glad to see her. Well you should have seen them smiling. Her account of their dangerous journey was very interesting, kind, bringing a "what must it be yonder" feeling into our souls. We give Jesus the glory and march on.—Capt. Florence Johnson.

God's Great, Strong Banner.

ST. GEORGE.—Here in this place, the hearts of the people are hard, but we are determined to go forward in the strength of our King, feeling confident that He will give us the victory "if we faint not."—T. T. Roach, Capt.

Gave to the Training Home.

DIGBY.—This past week has been a time of blessing to us, the Lord help us to be faithful to Jesus. Our people stood around to listen. Sunday night was to be a farewell meeting. The people came to hear who was to be farewell, and as Sister Whiteman came in and told them she was going to the Training Home, some fellow Hun, many were moved to tears. She has gone to the Training Home where we believe she will be a blessed soldier. We say God bless her, and keep her a true Training Home girl.—Moomas & White.

The Visitors Heartily Welcomed.

ANNAPOLIS.—Since our last report, we have had a time of victory ONE precious soul coming to our Jesus. Last week we had a banquet and half night of prayer, and God was with us. Captains Capt. Brooks and St. John I. brass band to the Annapolis people gave a hearty welcome to such a bold and faithful band. The banquet was a decided success. At the half night of prayer, five of our comrades sought and found pardon, and we trust, found it. The close of this week finds us with the whole armour on, determined to be faithful to our King, and fight the battle to the gates.—Lieut. Verrie Jost.

Five Backsliders Come Back.

WOODSTOCK.—After a much needed rest, I got orders for this place, and arrived on Saturday (June 28). Found a few faithful soldiers, who are willing to help push on the war (and by the look of things will need a lot of push,) and do their best to get souls saved. God has wonderfully blessed us of late, and we are hoping for the appearance of a little interest. The most to be rejoiced over is FIVE backsliders and one penitent. To God be all the glory.—Tom Higgins, Capt.

NOTES.

Did I not say last week that there would be some big changes and revelations this week? And am I not right? Yes, there is no doubt about it, as further developments go to prove.

The Montreal Division seems to have had to work hard to get over the loss of Major the Major, and I must hasten to congratulate Major Glover, Ensign Woodgate and the officers of this district.

I can do no better than, without any more introduction, give what is in my mind, faith, changes and fluctuations, and I trust the following notes will open the eyes of many, and cause all to do far more in pushing the Cry.

The Renowned Horses.

With joy I hail the rise of St. John. Winnipeg stands second to none, and St. John stands next to that. I felt so confident that the Lord would bless and multiply my go. The struggle has been a long one, but thank God the rise has come. Now, St. John, I trust, will not look behind you from taking first place?

Then Montreal I steps over Brandon at last, and it ought to. Brandon is only a small Prairie town of the west, while Montreal has one of the largest cities. Query—Did not Montreal ought to order 1000 Cars and 1000 "Young Soldiers?" Answer—You, I think so. Now, Captain Clarke!

Of course Victoria, with Capt. Aikenhead and D.O. Grayson, will keep her eye on St. John. The winner is coming on and I have great faith in these western Reds. Halifax I. is a good rise, Capt. Irvine has been at it a long time, Capt. Brooks will have to watch her guns, for there are quite a number of champions on her track.

It is a fact, a great fact, and worth mentioning and pondering over, that among the champions can be found no less than three of the North-west stations. Major Morris, this is good, and I see that Vancouver is not far off, and certainly Capt. Will will push ahead and get among the champions as soon as possible. Fire a volley for the far West!

There is not a single move this week among the Gallants. Surely this state of things cannot continue long. Oh, Gallants, rouse ye, rouse ye, get up like men.

Those Plucky Braves.

How often have I noted Toronto V, and how many times have I urged this corps to advance? Well, I have advanced, and stands the third plucky one. This is a good position, Riverside, but do not be satisfied at that. Let us go higher. Major, Capt. Houston will help you. The band boys will help you. Go on! Go on!! Go on!!!

Welcome Cornwall to the Pluckies! Welcome Capt. Hendricks! A rise of 60 is no small figure. Oh, no! That is good and just the kind of rise I like to see. Now that Captain Butler has gone to Oshawa I shall expect great things from that corps, and I do. The result, Cornwall, over Guelph as soon as you can. What a stirr that will cause Eh?

Special to the Risers.

At last Moncton heads the Rising List and Barrie is defeated. Well, it was a bold stroke for Moncton, but a good one and very successful the result. Cornwall of course has said "Good-bye," to the Rises, I hope "never to go back any more."

Now, Capt. Fox, make Cobourg go, in the WAR CRY sales, and Capt. Ireland will move Sarnia up a little. Well, I hear that Owen Sound sells its number of WAR CRYS night. The Yorkville Training Home will sell CRYS with little getting ahead of the brave Centre Street warriors. Now, Capt. Milligan, beware.

Now, Capt. Turner, push Galt, and Capt. Daymond, make Parry Sound move. Hurrah! Good for Lieut. Mulcahy, that's the Capt. Andrews will, of course, look out for Essex Centre, and Worry will work hard for Port Hope. Capt. Ham, Saturday night, Bowmanville goes up to 120. Hallelujah! Prescott will sell CRYS under Capt. Armstrong.

Welcome to the Risers West Winchester with your new Captain things will go; and I also have the pleasure to welcome Montreal II. into the PLODDERS' List. Hurrah! Now Capt. Clarke, Plodders. May their numbers be greatly increased.

I hope to give more Revelations next week. Pay.

Five Flashes from Woodstock.

D. O. SHARP.

Being Slightly Athletic

I am soon working my passage to Pembina where I soon become the subject of remark. Business is good, and I have visitors to buy the War Cry, although half a block from each other.

I had an opportunity to talk with a number of respectable-looking men on a corner, and hope soon to hold a meeting in this town.

Across the Red River to St. Vincent next, where I sell CRYS, talk, sing, and pray with the Red Men on the street, and finish up by a talk with

The Children on a Corner.

They gave the best of attention and made "good night" as I left them.

I rested for a few minutes at the House of a Prussian Lady.

a real Christian and a warm friend of the S.A.

I then began to retrace my steps to Canada, the moon just rising, the road safe although being a lonely road. I met a drunken Irishman who wanted to have a talk. I prayed with him and started on, more than ever trying to get a little enjoyment, I thought, "Oh, I have got the best of it, such a sweet peace pervading my being, instead of the sinking, short-lived joy which they experience."

Lieut. McGill.

[Now, Lieut., can't you keep the Cry posted with good news every week?—Ed.]

Lieut. McGill Goes Into the States

From Emerson.

A Prussian Lady—Across the Red River—Pilfny News.

A hard go; am visiting right and left, am graciously received on all sides. The cross again! It oft repeats.

Saturday, 5.30 p.m., quarters shut up. Lieut. gone. Where? Across the States—am hurrying on to Pembina.

"Hello! there, got a WAR CRY?" I'll take one. I talked to him about his soul. He told me that he had found assistance to be cheats and tried to excuse himself. "Every rub need stand on its own bottom."

Soon I meet a man who is encouraging and him, I to push on in the fight. I'm over the line, a feeling of independence, I'm independent; I'm born of God; I'm the child of a King. An iron post marks the line at Pembina; it stands about 20 feet high, about 7 inches square at the ground and 4 at top. "Convention of London, Oct. 18th, 1818." In raised characters upon the side thing, but I will not burden you with my reflections, but lead you inland by way of the Lakes.

Soon the rails give forth a rumbling noise. The hand-car approaches. The Boss, with working people, invites me "to jump on if I want a ride."

A FREED SLAVE.

MRS. BOOTH-TUCKER.

A free and pardoned slave I roam,
Chained to His will while earth's my home;
By right, by choice, my Lord's I am,
A daughter of the dying lamb.

The world by sin has dark become,
I wonder 'mid its exiled race,
Beside me walks the Son of Man,
I read compassion in His face.

He speaks to me of hopes so great,
Of yearnings o'er the sins of men?
I realize the hour is late,
And yet He hids me resume them.

But 'twixt us lies a gulf so vast,
That sacrifice and sufferings sore
Must bridge my way, which Heaven has cast,
To bring their wandering feet safe o'er.

He tells me that no coward's hand
Can burst the coils from sin-chained feet;
A heart endued with power Divine
Alone can make the task complete.

And do I hesitate or stay,
To think of earth's ambition, fame,
While I myself am but as they—
Redeemed, allowed my Saviour's name?

No! no? I hasten to the pit
Where man in loathsome darkness lie;
It's not for me to idly sit
Where Christ, my Lord, came down to die.

My choice is made, my object fixed;
Come night or day, come joy or pain,
By His dear side to stand betwixt
A rebel world and heavenly gain.

LED BY GOD.

All the real servants of God who have ever served Him, have been men who have holly given themselves up to the guiding Spirit of God. "As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God." Abram went out at the command of God, not knowing where he was going, but trusting to God to guide him aright. The man who is led by the Spirit of God has given up his time, his worldly prospects, his

All to God;

and he receives just as much of these things as God gives him by the way. He thinks nothing of to-morrow; it is enough for him to do God's will as it is this day—this moment—revealed to him. He does that will regardless of the consequences to himself, and leaves the results to Him who bade him do it. God says, "I will guide thee with mine eye;" so he is always

More Rescue Homes needed in the Dominion. We must have them. Our fallen sisters must be saved.

"STAYED ON THEE."

Day by day this prayer I offer
To the One who cares for me,
"In the midst of life's temptation
Keep my heart, Lord, stayed on Thee."

"When the clouds about me gather,
And the way I cannot see,
When the storms of life overtake me,
Keep my heart, Lord, stayed on Thee.

When the skies are bright above me,
And all cares and sorrow flee,
When my life is filled with gladness,
Keep my heart, Lord, stayed on Thee.

When defeat sore seemeth certain
Little hope of victory,
When the foe is nearer drawing,
Keep my heart, Lord, stayed on Thee.

And when I through faith have triumphed
And the vanquished foe can see,
When I know the joy of victory,
Keep my heart, Lord, stayed on Thee.

And [illegible] all life's fitful changes,
[illegible] my lot may be,
[illegible] in the shadow,
Keep my heart, Lord, stayed on Thee.

There is no more effectual way to spread Salvation than by increasing the circulation of the WAR CRY, which is circulated, not merely to sustain and increase the devotion of the Army but to arouse all who read it to a more self-sacrificing and energetic attack upon the kingdom of the devil, and the more soldiers efforts to extend the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.
